New Association of Feminist Consultants Nearing National Status

"The corporations all bave blinders on. They can solve all kinds of problems with brilliant solutions, because they really want to solve them. But when it comes to women, their brain power seems to drain right out of them . . ."

Jennifer S. Macleod of 4 Canoe Brook Drive, Princeton Junction, is a feminist consultant. She pinned a note to the bulletin board at the OEO conference in New York last June, and so began the new Association of Feminist Consultants, with Dr. Macleod as coordinator pro tem.

Lynne Darey of 34 Witherspoon Street is also among the 11 founders. More than 100 feminist consultants have applied for membership, including several men, and the plan is to screen them all.

"A number of us talked at the OEO conference and immediately agreed that there's a need for an association. We also agreed that totally unqualified people are performing feminist consulting services," Dr. Macleod comments.

"A point of ethics is that no consultant who belongs to the Association will do anything to the detriment of women. If I counsel a company on the details of the laws, and the company says, 'We'll get around this by hiring all our women part-time and circumvent the law on the minimum hourly wage,' I would call a halt. I wouldn't be a party to that."

The feminist consultants work to put down such myths as "Women don't need the money," as well as apathy and unawareness on the part of their fellow women.

"There's a very fine research study, a real eye-opener, in the November-December 1971 issue of American Behavioral Scientist," Dr. Macleod says. "It's the first really definitive study.

"It discovers that while only 7.9% of the working women believe they are discriminated against on their jobs, the median working men, in equivalent jobs receive 71% more in salary. Ninety-five percent of the women receive lower rewards than men of the same qualifications and experience. And further, 66% of the working women (that's two-thirds!) work because they are separated, divorced, widowed or have a husband who earns under $7,000 a year. Nobody could argue that women don't need the money!"

(The study, titled "Sex Discrimination Against the American Woman," is by Teresa Levitin, a member of the new association; and two men, R.H.P. Quinn and Graham L. Staines, all of the University of Michigan.)

Feminist consultants conduct career workshops for women, organize vocational and executive training programs, recruit women for better jobs, express the feminist viewpoint to male management, provide expert lobbying, lecture on feminist topics, aid schools in eliminating sexism, organize day care centers, offer professional help in the elimination of sexism in print and on the air, in texts and toys, and so on.

Dr. Macleod comments, "If a company executive tells the research directors to develop a product in such a way and the

Lengthy Testimony Ends on Kopp Apartments – Decision Oct. 5

For the second time in five months, the Township Board of Adjustment has concluded hearings on the application of Edward Kopp III to build 33 apartments on a 2.3 acre plot on Terhune Road.

From all indications, its decision this time will be more difficult to reach. The board expects to review the case in executive session Thursday, October 5.

When it heard the proposal for the first time last May, the zoning board unanimously recommended to Township Committee that Mr. Kopp be given the all-important use variance to construct the apartments. Testimony was offered only by those in favor, and the board apparently had little trouble agreeing.

But when Committee had to rule on the board's decision, it decided there was not enough evidence besides Mr. Kopp's own testimony. Several organizations, absent from the zoning board hearing, lined up against the proposal.

The Second Time Around. So Committee remanded — sent back — the case to the zoning board for re-hearing. There was no dearth of witnesses and testimony this time around. The third three-hour meeting was held Tuesday night, giving the board literally hundreds of pages of testimony to digest.

In a continuation meeting held August 1, William Miller, Regional Planning Board counsel, presented six witnesses. Each repeatedly made the point that the Zoning Board must defer to the public policy set forth in the present Master Plan.

Using language set forth in the section governing use variances, the witnesses argued one after another that the board could not recommend the variance "without substantial detriment to the public good," and to do so would substantially impair the intent and purpose of the zone plan."

In the sparsely - attended meeting, other opposition was registered in the form of prepared statements by the League of Women Voters and the Citizens Advisory Committee on Housing.

The Master Plan at the moment prohibits construction of multi-fmily homes in the Township, except for public and limited-sponsorship housing. Construction of private apartments is not allowed.

The Planning Board is working on a new policy for multiple housing, but the planners firmly believe developers like Mr. Kopp should wait until the new policy is incorporated into the Master Plan.

New Master Plan Coming. Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, testified that a timetable has been worked out, which would result in a new community master plan with accompanying ordinances by the end of next year.

"It is hopefully a classic point in planning that you determine general policy procedure first, before any specific execution of policy," Mr. Sander said.

In answer to a question from zoning board chairman Everett Garretson, Mr. Sander said there was a pressing need for this type of housing, but the good derived from the delay sought by the planning board far outweighs the good that might come to apartment seekers if Kopp's request were granted.

Mr. Sander added the point, echoed by other witnesses, that a dangerous precedent would be set by allowing Kopp to proceed, opening the community to similar applications.

Shopping Center Hit. Richard May Jr., a planning consultant about to be retained by the Planning Board to aid in the preparation of the new Master Plan, commented that the Kopp apartments, if built, could jeopardize the re-planning of that area.

"The shopping center area is a critical land use area," Mr. May commented. I feel the shopping center is temporary. It was never built adequately and will be rebuilt someday. It's unsightly and a blighting influence on the housing nearby."

Another planning consultant, Charles Shepherd, commented that of all the plans he had been involved in, this Master Plan had more public participation in it than any other. This Plan expresses the public policy of the community, he added.

Alvin E. Gershen, Princeton resident and a planning consultant with offices here, said director says it can't be done, the executive tells him he'll have a bigger budget and to go hire bigger brains. They make it possible to solve a problem.

"But when the executive tells the personnel manager, 'Hire more women,' the personnel manager says, 'But Joe, there aren't any qualified women! I had an ad in the paper and none applied.' Or he says, 'We recruited at the coed universities and none applied' (or, 'The women applicants were too immature.')"

The feminist consultants work to help management think creatively. The woman scientist at home with her children would like to return to work, but she's given up trying to get a job. The want ads and college recruitment don't reach her.

"Corporations may turn to management consultants — who have no women professionals on their staffs at all, and would never hire one! They don't understand the problems of women, either."

Over A Year Old. Dr. Macleod got the idea of a national association of feminist consultants in the summer of 1971. "What I was thinking was that consultants in the feminist area should have high credentials. She (or he) must be an educated, committed feminist. She is uniquely suited to assist corporations, schools, universities and other institutions."

Dr. Macleod herself is a graduate of Radcliffe magna cum laude in 1949, with advanced degrees from Columbia. She is former chief psychologist at Opinion Research and first director of Rutger's Eagleton Center for the American Woman and Politics — a post she resigned. She was founding president of the first NOW chapter in New Jersey — here in Princeton; and convenor of the National Women's Political Caucus.

In the past year she has served as feminist consultant to AT&T, Bell Laboratories, Urban Research Corp. of Chicago and others. Last week she conducted a workshop for male management at Western Electric on Carter Road.

A Long Campaign. "An active feminist understands the whole status of women is a political thing. In some ways we are a social caste, an undercaste. Each teacher taught us the male view, and we have to turn our heads around. It takes a long time to educate yourself — and the process never ends."

The Association of Feminist Consultants has published a directory of members, which a number of companies have requested. There have been direct requests for consultations, referred to the member living nearest, and a firm in Worcester, Mass., has asked the AFC to organize a conference on equal opportunities for women — which was referred to the member in Boston.

Its organizational meeting is set for October 26-27 in New York. "The marvelous thing is that we can earn a legitimate living helping people help women. And what could be better than that?"

Township to Guide Use of Firearms and Unlicensed Vehicles

New regulations concerning firearms in Princeton Township, which largely affect hunters, are given in an ordinance introduced at Township Committee on Monday.

Guns may not be fired within Township limits, nor may a loaded gun be carried within 300 feet of an occupied house or within 400 feet of a school playground. A householder may, however, give written authorization for a gun to be carried on his property.

The ordinance does not cover law enforcement officers, private security personnel and members of legally-recognized military organizations, providing they are engaged in the performance of their duties.

Also excepted are members of government or civilian gun clubs organized under the rules of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, but they must file a copy of their charter with the police chief and have their target range, if it is in the Township, approved by the chief.

Further exceptions are made for persons "lawfully using firearms in the protection of person or property," and for those engaging in skeet or trap shooting on ranges approved by the police chief.

Judge Peskin Resigns

Burton Peskin, Princeton Township municipal judge for the past three and a half years, has resigned effective the end of this month.

Now a member of the law firm of Jamieson, Walsh, McCardell, Moore ? Peskin, he said to Township Committee in his letter of September 11, "Rules of the Supreme Court of New Jersey prohibit me and any member of my firm from practicing before any board or commission in Princeton Township. This simply precludes us from complete representation of our clients."

He resigned with regret, he said, and offered to stay on as municipal judge through October, if Committee so wished.

Mini-bikes. Unlicensed motor-driven vehicles, including mini-bikes, motor scooters, go-carts and snowmobiles, are to be banned on all Township-owned property — which includes parking yards, parks and sidewalks. The ordinance was introduced at the suggestion of the Conservation Commission. Emergency vehicles or those used in construction or maintenance of the property are excepted.

Both ordinances will be given a public hearing at 8 p.m. on October 16, as will the ordinance changing the conservation group's name to "Environmental Commission."

The Township plans to apply for 1973 Road Aid from the State to continue Great Road improvements out to the Montgomery Township line. Two sections have been completed, a third has approved funding. The last section begins at approximately Ridgeview Road. Cost is estimated at about $64,000, with approximately $54,000 to be supplied by the state.

Sewer projects for Herrontown Road and Mt. Lucas Road, introduced in an ordinance, will also be given a public hearing on the 16th.

Appointments. Committee named five residents to the new Commission on Aging: Mrs. Richard Pearson, Mrs. Howard B. Waxwood, Mrs. Norman Eiger, Mrs. Werner Edelmann and Elmer E. Chase.

Dr. Lester V. Chandler, former member of the Planning Board, was appointed to the Citizens' Advisory Council on Housing. Mrs. Beatrice Boyer was named to serve on the Civil Rights Commission.

Flood Insurance. Township property has been declared eligible for flood insurance as of September 15, Mayor John Wallace announced. The entire community has been declared a flood area, pending a detailed study.

The Centennial Insurance Company of Chatham has been designated agent, and residents may make arrangements through their local insurance agents. Applications within 30 days of September 15, will receive immediate coverage, later applicants will have a 15-day wait, the mayor said.

Regional Health. Mrs. Barbara Smoyer of the Committee reported that a contract for a Regional Board of Health is being worked out by Princeton Township, West Windsor and Montgomery Township. Princeton Borough, she said, has turned down the proposal. The local boards will continue to be maintained in each municipality.

Bar Hours. In spite of requests from the owners of Andy's Tavern and Cenerino's Bar, Committee refused to hold a public hearing at 2 a.m. closing hours. Mrs. Smoyer suggested a compromise, keeping the bars open on Friday and Saturday nights. Members of Committee said they had discussed the matter with a number of residents in the immediate areas of the bars. The hang-up is the closeness of private dwellings, a problem the Borough does not have, Councilman Dean Chase observed.

BLOCKED VISION BLAMED

For Alexander St. Accident. When Ronald G. Demaskey, 25, of Robbinsville left work Monday at 4:57, it was raining hard. As he pulled out of the driveway at 128 Alexander, his vision was blocked by a truck parked to his left, and he ran into the path of a car coming north on Alexander, driven by David E. Willard, 25, of 253 Pennington Road, Hopewell.

Mr. Willard was taken by the First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for head injuries and contusions. The entire front end of his small foreign car was damaged. The mishap is still being investigated by Township police.

Turning Mishap. Mardel E. Pacheco, 51, of Trenton, was ticketed for careless driving late Thursday afternoon when she ran into the rear of a station wagon about to turn off Elm Road onto Elm Lane.

Mrs. Pacheco was treated for contusions of both knees and the chest at the Princeton Medical Center. Her passenger, two-year-old Kelly Ann Klar, sustained lacerations of her lip and tongue and a fracture of her lower teeth.

The driver told Sgt. John J. Bellow the only thing she could remember was that "the baby did something. I reached out to her and then there was this impact."

The impact forced the station wagon into a tree, causing extensive front and rear damage. It was operated by Susan D. Hoss, 38, 65 Westcott Road. The cars remained locked together until the police and wreckers arrived.

DRIVER IS ROBBED

In Parking Lot. A 19-year-old driver was robbed of $80 Monday in the Community Parking lot.

According to Township police, Richard T. Orr of State Road was driving through the lot a few minutes after 5 when a youth called out to him. Mr. Orr stopped and the youth went up to his car and opened the door.

Two others immediately appeared and jumped on Mr. Orr, taking his wallet, police said. The three, presumed to be teenagers by the police, then escaped on foot.

Sgt. Michael Kopliner and Det. Frank Boccanfuso are investigating.

FIVE CARS ENTERED

In Choir College Lot. Five students at Westminster Choir College called Borough police Thursday, all reporting that their cars parked on campus had been broken into. Four reported the theft of stereo equipment.

Robert Dante of West Hall, the first to call at 12:34 p.m., reported losing a stereo tape player and eight tapes with a value of $56. Tom Conroy of North Hall lost a $90 tape deck. He called at 3:10.

At 5:13, Pamela Warnitz of New Dorm reported that the license plates had been stolen from her car and its radio antenna and wiper blades broken off. Next, at 7:31, Robert Lauler of West Hall said that a $25 reverberator had been taken from his car.

The last call came at 10:47 when Thomas Scheck of West Hall reported his tape deck missing from his car. He valued it at $92.

Money can Grow Faster than you think!

During the past three years, stocks have been in a bear market. During the same three years, though, some property owners in the Princeton area have made as much as 90% on their money invested in real estate.

Yes . . . money can grow faster than you think!

In a savings bank, money may only grow at about the same rate that inflation erodes its buying power. But there is a way to invest in real estate which creates long term capital gains that, in turn, can be reinvested for you . . . thus pyramiding your profits.

We can't guarantee that performance in the next year or so will equal last year's but it is very comforting to remember that real estate prices have kept on going up despite the doldrums on Wall Street.

Let me show you the figures. No obligation, of course.

Palmer Square lost a $200 stereo tuner-amplifier over the weekend when someone threw a large rock through the display window, removed the amplifier and a record player case valued at $10.

Sgt. Ralph Procaccino, who investigated, said that the theft took place between 5 p.m. Saturday and 7:20 Sunday morning, when it was discovered.

LOMBARDO ASKS CHANGE

In Appointment Procedure. Councilman Martin P. Lombardo has urged a revamping of all public appointment procedures in the Borough "to give all residents an equal chance to serve their community."

Calling on Mayor and Council to adhere "not only equal employment opportunities but equal appointment policies as well," Mr. Lombardo charged that "the present system heavily favors those individuals along political lines or acquaintances of Mayor and Council."

"Citizens in our Borough have illustrated a great desire to serve our community, but many of them will never have the opportunity under the closed set-up Mayor and Council have practiced in the past," Mr. Lombardo added. "We must reach out to every individual giving him ample opportunity to serve."

In his proposal to Council, Mr. Lombardo recommended that a bi-partisan three-member committee be appointed to carry out new procedures on future appointments.

As outlined by Mr. Lombardo, the committee would be responsible for notifying the public through the press that a vacancy on a board existed. Residents would be invited to submit a resume and then be interviewed by the committee.

The three top applicants would appear before Council, which would make the final selection. Mr. Lombardo said the current selection process is also inadequate because Council does not meet the candidate, or review a formal resume.

An additional duty of the committee, according to Mr. Lombardo, would be to conduct a thorough review of every position as its term of service expires.

"If the individual who has served in this appointment has done so for three or more years and there is great interest in the community for this position, then the committee

Tricia Nixon Cox Here — Non-Politically

Mrs. Edward Cox, elder daughter of President Nixon, made a quiet, unannounced visit to Princeton on Thursday. She was taken on a low-key tour of Merwick, on Bayard Lane, and of Princeton House, Mt. Lucas Road, both units of Princeton Medical Center.

"It was a complete surprise here!" according to Mrs. Rutherford S. Pierrepont at Republican headquarters. "We didn't know she was coming until that morning."

Mrs. Cox, quiet and unruffled by the confusion of Secret Service men and police, arrived just before 2 p.m. at Merwick in a small motorcade headed by a state police car. She was greeted by Ralph S. Mason, president of the Princeton Medical Center board of trustees, and by John W. Kauffman, executive vice-president of PMC, and president-elect of the American Hospital Association.

The press, invited to attend her arrival but excluded from the tours, was informed that there would be a reception for Mrs. Cox in the Merwick library before she was taken through the building. During her tour she spoke with many of the patients.

After a half-hour, Mrs. Cox emerged to speak briefly with bystanders, asking in a soft voice, "How long have you lived in Princeton?" or "How are you today?" and to a small restless boy, "How old are you?"

"I think she's charming," said a smiling woman. "And I'm sure my husband got some very good pictures of her."

Channel 52 interviewers asked her for comments on the campaign, which she said, in effect, is going well. She was then driven out to Princeton House for another tour, leaving afterwards for the State Fair.

There's a rumor around Republican Headquarters that Mrs. Cox may make another visit to Princeton.

that left to its own market devices, all land left for multi-housing use would be gobbled up for luxury housing. (The Kopp Apartments would rent for between $245-$300).

There would be nothing left for public housing without the intervention of public policy, Mr. Gershen said.

While all parties agree that the Master Plan is not an actual ordinance which the zoning board must adhere to in that sense, they differ on the extent to which the Master Plan is "binding" on the board. Mr. Miller prepared a memorandum of law for the board in which he stated "it is . . . clearly erroneous to dismiss the Master Plan as having no legal effect."

"All the regional Planning Board asks for is time," Mr. Miller concluded. "And time is on the side of the public interest."

A. C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for Mr. Kopp, asked the board to re-recommend the use variance for the apartments to promote the general welfare of the Princeton area. Mr. Hicks, who had sought to show the uniqueness of this particular piece of land for apartments, added that it could not possibly harm the zoning plan.

TRENTON PAIR CHARGED In Shoplifting Caper. Two Trenton youths, Floyd Nolan, 21, and Ralph Scott, 19, were charged by Township police last week with shoplifting seven dresses valued at $141.84 from Bailey's in the Princeton Shopping Center. Each has been released in $100 bail to await a Township court hearing November 4.

Township police were first alerted by Borough police that three men dressed as women were suspected of shoplifting in several stores in the Borough. Later the Township police received a call from Bamberger's, requesting aid to apprehend suspected shoplifters.

Det. Frank Boccanfuso, joined by Borough detectives Timothy Hulzing and Thomas Michaud, later spied two suspects running from Bamberger's to the Shopping Center lot, where they tried to hide behind a car. Before they were apprehended, the two attempted to shove three packages beneath a car.

The packages, police said, were later identified by an employee of Bailey's as having come from the store. He added that the two had been shopping in the store about 45 minutes previously. One of the suspects, when arrested, was dressed as a female.

HOME IS ENTERED On Quaker Road. The home of Laura Klinger, 71 Quaker Road, was entered Thursday afternoon by someone who forced open a window on the south side of the house.

Once inside, the thief ransacked two bedrooms, a den and the living room, taking a portable TV, electric typewriter, camera, clock radio and about 25 antique Indian arrowheads. The articles were valued in excess of $500.

Pfl. James Vandermark investigated. The Klinger home is not visible from others in the neighborhood because of trees and vegatation.

BICYCLE PATHS SUBJECT Of Thursday Meeting the need for more bicycle paths and trails in Mercer County will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street this Thursday evening, at 8 p.m..

Specific suggestions for action by Mercer County's Board of Freeholders will be discussed. A filmstrip will be shown, and literature will be available. All interested persons are invited.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs a dime.

MY YANKEE DRUM

Exciting New Limited Edition Print by Bob Timberlake

17"x25½", 1500 SIGNED AND NUMBERED — $30

"My Yankee Drum" is typical of the complete personal involvement that goes with each Timberlake painting. The original Civil War drum was a gift from his parents. "I can still dream of the stories that drum could tell," says the artist, "if it could only talk, with its screaming eagle frowning at me just as it did over a hundred years ago for the Ohio boy who carried it into battle."

should consider a new selection," Mr. Lombardo commented.

Citing both a Republican survey and one of his own, Mr. Lombardo said many residents have expressed a desire to become more involved in community affairs and to serve on a local board.

"This proposal will be called to the attention of James Blair, Director New Jersey Division of Civil Rights, and I hope his office will take affirmative action concerning this equality request for all citizens throughout the state," Mr. Lombardo added.

AGENDA IS SET

For School Board Session. The Princeton Regional Board of Education will meet at 8 p.m. on Tuesday in Community Park School. The agenda includes discussion of policy concerning research in the schools by outside researchers, based upon a report by Dr. Constance Vieland of the office of staff development, and recommendations of the standing committee on research, of which Dr. Vieland is chairman.

Her report on the status of staff development programs is also on the agenda, as is discussion of policy for travel expenses, membership expenses and professional ethics concerning gifts, certain discounts, bonuses, and royalties.

The board will discuss the educational placement of handicapped children, and the establishment of two staff positions: coordinator of scheduling services and school business administrator.

Also on the agenda is the State-mandated testing program; a progress report on facilities planning; new credit and graduation requirements, and the State Aid to Non-public Schools.

IAP Receives More Funds

The Institute for Applied Psychotherapy (IAP), 291 Witherspoon Street, has received a little more than $51,000 to cover its second year of operation. The organization set up shop in Princeton last September, but not before a fair amount of debate on its worth to the town.

Slightly more than $36,000 of the amount will come again from the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA), which distributes Federal Safe Streets Act funds. The remaining $15,000 will be split 50-50 between Borough and Township.

Nancy Hartnett, IAP director, said the present program would continue with a few new additions. A consultant Dr. John Cooper has been added to run staff and volunteer training sessions. IAP will also be working closely with Corner House, Miss Hartnett added.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

For Possessing of Bogus Hashish. An 18-year-old Bank Street man and a 15-year-old Princeton juvenile were arrested Friday morning in Princeton Cemetery by Borough police who charged them with possession of a counterfeit drug.

Marion F. Stokes Jr., 12 Bank Street, was charged with possession of a counterfeit controlled dangerous substance and a switchblade knife. He was later released in his own recognizance and was scheduled to appear in Borough court this Wednesday afternoon.

The juvenile was processed by the Borough juvenile officer. The two were arrested by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Det. Anthony Ranfone acting on a telephone call.

According to police, about a half dozen tinfoil packages were found in Stokes' possession, wrapped to resemble small hashish packages that are sold to high school students for $10.

The practice of substituting a drug with a worthless substance is called a rip-off, stated Chief Michael Carnevale. He said that it was the first time he knew of a charge here for possession of a counterfeit drug.

POLITICAL VIEWPOINTS

Republicans Eye Drug Problem. Borough Republican candidates John P. Dismukes and Michael J. Myers have urged establishment of fuller communication and citizen understanding on the problem of drug abuse.

They said that their contact with the voters indicates that most citizens consider drug abuse a "major problem," but that a great many Borough residents have expressed a lack of knowledge as to what programs have been established and what they, as individuals, can do.

Mr. Dismukes and Mr. Myers praised the establishment last July by Borough Council and Township Committee of Corner House, saying that "it will provide a long-needed local nerve center for diagnosis and treatment, referral." The GOP candidates said that a large part of the drug problem today is "getting across to community residents the message that adequate programs exist which can be of tremendous help to persons with a drug problem.

"Only this way will our citizens have enough confidence in treatment facilities to seek out help for themselves or a loved one who has a drug problem," they said.

The Republican candidates also called for broad public support for both the police and judiciary in their efforts to stamp out "a dangerously high amount of drug trafficking in Princeton."

MORE COLLECTIONS ASKED

During Holiday Weeks. Borough Democratic Council candidates Robert Powell and Mrs. Barbara Sigmund have written Mayor Cawley to suggest that in the remaining weeks of 1972, when major holidays occur, collection of garbage in the east side of the municipality not be cut to one.

They point out that when Labor Day fell on Monday, September 4, the east side of the borough lost its regular collection that day and that all remaining holidays this year will fall on Mondays or Thursdays. Thursday is the second date for collection in the area east of Witherspoon Street.

"We respectfully suggest," they have written the Mayor, "that this problem be corrected by a Borough-wide garbage pick-up on Tuesdays following national holidays on Monday, and on the Friday following Thanksgiving."

GOOSPELL TO RETURN

On Easter Sunday. In response to public demand, McCarter Theatre has scheduled a return engagement by the National Touring Company of the smash off-Broadway musical hit "Godspell" on Sunday evening, April 22.

The previously announced performance on October 13 sold out within hours of the opening of ticket sales this past week.

McCarter notes that the April 22 return engagement, for which tickets are now on sale, is scheduled for Easter Sunday evening — highly appropriate for a show based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew. Conceived and directed by John-Michael Tebelak, with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz.

"Godspell" opened off-Broadway in May, 1971, and is still going strong. Productions of the musical have since opened in several cities here and abroad.

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

At Intime in November. Theatre Intime will have as its major production of the fall, Shakespeare's "As You Like It," a romantic comedy with music. To be presented November 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, and 18, rehearsals will begin about October 1.

Preliminary auditions are now in progress through Thursday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Anyone interested in trying out should sign up for an audition time in the lobby of Murray Theater, where information is available.

The play will be directed by Daniel F. Berkowitz, familiar to Intime audiences for his directorial roles of "The Hostage" last spring and Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" last summer. For further information, call 452-8181.

FAMILIAR FACE AT McCARTER BOX OFFICE: Megan McAndrew, 235 Edgerstoune Road, is working at McCarter Theatre this fall in the box office.

News Of The Theatres

Intime initiates its Fall Film Series Friday and Saturday with the W. C. Fields classic "Never Give a Sucker an Even Break."

Six consecutive weekends of films are planned. Accompanying each feature presentation will be the first chapter of an old film serial, beginning with "Zombies of the Stratosphere." (Leonard Nimoy's first science fiction role.)

Serials will begin at 8 p.m. and the feature presentations at 8:30.

JOINS McCARTER STAFF As Box Office Assistant. Many Princetonians will find a familiar face greeting them at the McCarter Theater Box Office this season. Megan McAndrew, 235 Edgerstoune Road, has joined the staff of the theater as box office assistant and mailing supervisor.

Megan has lived in Princeton most of her 22 years. She attended Princeton Regional Schools and the Shipley School in Bryn Mawr (Pa.). The past few years, she has spend on the college scene - first at the University of Wyoming where she was in the Honors program and a University Scholar, then at the University of Connecticut from where she graduated in June with a BA in English (magna cum laude).

Now Megan is preparing for an exciting new kind of education at McCarter. "I've been so busy going to school that my theater experience has been limited," she said.

"Once I did play Eeyore in 'Winnie-the-Pooh' and one of the bulls in 'Ferdinand' for the Princeton Community Players, but that was when I was seven. Don't laugh though -those were important roles!"

A Fast Start. Megan will finally have the opportunity to develop her love of the theater. Already she has been thrown into the frantic dramatic world, handling the heavy volume of subscription orders for the first season of McCarter's new Professional Theater Company, opening in October.

More than 5,000 season's subscriptions have been purchased by theatergoers across the state (and as far away as Baltimore and Boston). This triples the highest number of subscriptions ever previously sold for a repertory company at McCarter (dating back to 1960).

The new troupe will perform five plays in its first season, ranging from classical to modern repertory, opening with the World Premiere of William Alfred's "Agamemnon" and including Shakespeare's magical comedy, "The Tempest."

Megan has also been deluged with inquiries about McCarter's "specials," a wide range of events including music, dance, films, pops and a series of booked-in theater attractions.

Born Here. Being a native Princetonian, and a member of a large family, Megan is well-known to many of McCarter's regular patrons. "If they don't know me, they always know one of my sisters," she said. "They're usually surprised to hear an unexpectedly familiar voice in the box office."

Megan has four sisters, Linda, Karen, Shelagh and Maura. Her mother, Jean M. McAndrew, is head instructor at Trinity-All Saints Nursery School on Terhune Road.

On Sunday, behind bars at the theater, Megan was joined by Barth (Buzz) Aaron, McCarter's box office treasurer, and Lynnn Quigley, who both have spent the summer working at the Camden County Music Fair in Cherry Hill.

All three are looking forward to meeting both old and new friends at the McCarter box office window this season.

CLASSES TO BEGIN For Ballet Society. With the start of classes for the 1972-73 season this Thursday, the Princeton Ballet Society's School of Ballet marks its eighteenth year under the direction of Audree Estey, who founded the organization in 1954 and has been teaching dance in Princeton since 1942.

The schedule for this year includes 55 different classes, including 45 in classical ballet for beginning kindergartners through advanced adults, five in modern dance, four in jazz, two in women's exercise ballet and, added this year, two sessions of yoga. Located at 262 Alexander Street, the

WHAT IS AN ORIENTAL RUG!

PERSIAN RUG AUCTION

What is an Oriental Rug? The term Oriental Rug refers to any hand-made rug that is made in the Orient such as rugs made in China, India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran and Turkey. The term Persian Rug refers to any hand-made rug made in Persia, better known today as Iran. No matter where they come from Orientals have few characteristics in common, they are all hand-made. Almost all have soft pile of thousands of knots usually wool, sometimes silk, as many as 800 to the square inch, all have rich designs and colors developed from centuries of tradition. The yarn is first dyed by hand with natural colors from minerals, insects or plants. Weavers then tie the yarn into knots row by row on a foundation thread strung on the loom.

Weaving a large fine Oriental can take a family as many as 5 to 7 years to complete and then it is usually traded for a few head of sheep or a piece of land. A fact which is enough to turn most of today's generation away from the loom. This plus the fact that the Iranian Government passed a very strict law forbidding any child between the ages of 5 and 14 years of age from weaving will eventually make this a lost art. It has been a proven fact that a fine Persian Rug will increase a minimum of 10 per cent a year in value.

Free promotional exhibition and auctions of this nature are held by Kaoud Brothers with the cooperation of their overseas associates to promote the interests for Persian Rugs in this country and to help upgrade the life pattern of the traditional rug weaving families of Iran in order to preserve this ancient art. For promotional purposes Oriental Rugs will be given away as Door Prizes every hour during the auction plus a free catalogue with a full description of all the rugs in this collection.

The care that Oriental Rugs require is the same as for any good wool rug. A weekly light vacuuming and a professional cleaning every 5 or 6 years is advisable. Oriental rugs can easily be spot-cleaned with mild soap and water, a thin padding is required to keep the rug from slipping, otherwise enjoy your Oriental: WALK ON THEM, SIT ON THEM, LIE ON THEM AS THEY WILL GAIN BEAUTY AND VALUE BY AGE AND GOOD USE.

ROCKS IN YOUR FUTURE

At Silver's Stoneage. "Before I had to teach a unit on geology at school, I didn't know one rock from another," Mrs. Gail Silver of Silver's Stoneage, says cheerfully. "I just thought they were pretty!"

Mrs. Silver and her whole family are now "rock hounds," and you'll see in their shop on Route 31 just north of the Pennington Market such items as dogtooth calcite, Brazilian amethysts, keokuk geodes (from Iowa), onyx; zebra and moss agates from India; lizardstone from Texas, Mexican phantom calcite, carnelian, aventurine, bloodstone, and much more, including fossils.

All ages come in and browse. Most are making jewelry, solving the Christmas present problem in a personal way. Silver's Stoneage has all of the jewelry "findings," including gold and silver wire. There is a special table for children where everything is priced at 50 cents, and Cree mimeographed information sheets on such things as "Indian Legends — Turquoise and Black Diamond," because Mrs. Silver will never cease to be a teacher.

The story of the Stoneage is one of a suddenly - discovered interest mushrooming into a new career. Mrs. Silver's son Larry, now 8, was in her class when that influential study unit on rocks came along. The family went on a trip and stopped in at a Nevada lapidary shop. "My son was fascinated, and my daughter started to make jewelry.

"We collected rocks at home for a few years. We went to the rock and mineral shows — mostly in Pennsylvania — and read the lapidary magazines.

"And we went on field trips!

SILVER'S STONEAGE in Pennington is a happy mixture of rocks and minerals, fossils and polished stones, jewelry findings and even a treasure hunter for your next day on the dunes. Above is Mrs. Gail Silver, former teacher turned geology enthusiast.

The rock collection we have at home is unbelievable! ! We have a collection from right here in New Jersey, and others we found in New York and Pennsylvania. During the summers, we went out every week — Port Jervis, N. Y.; St. Claire, Pa. In fact, I have a book here, and I mark the good spots for customers. Our whole family enjoys this, and we keep finding that others do, too."

How It Started. The Silvers began selling their stones at the various flea markets "and we just kept growing." Mrs. Silver gave lectures at the schools. She still does and invites invitations from schools and clubs.

Silver's Stoneage has attractive jewelry items for sale made from the semi-precious stones. There is sterling silver jewelry made by the Zuni and by the Navaho Indians, priced up to $6 ("I don't mark up prices," Mrs. Silver says of these fine items).

There are polished "worry stones" for 50 cents, shaped for rubbing between thumb and forefinger. We saw shafts of onyx in bookend forms as well as the captivating geodes. And many, many rock specimens in various sizes.

In addition, there are dolls of all nations, selected by Mrs. Silver's daughter Marcy, 9, who's also a doll collector. Larry has selected the metal detectors that you use when prowling for buried treasure, and some Mexican things as well as a maleable plastic called "Flesh," which he's sure kids his age will like — because he likes them himself.

And the Silvers' teenage niece, Margaret O'Connor, 16, selects much of the jewelry. She has ordered the "nostalgia pins" that are due in any day.

Customers Reaction. "I take the children to the gift shows, because I figure that kids know what kids like — much more than I do. I come up with things, too, but I don't buy unless I get an opinion from the kids. So I'm careful!" She sometimes has difficulty in getting the young people through the doors at the gift shows, but she manages.

On Saturdays, Mr. Silver turns up to explain the metal detectors to treasure hunters, and to help out all around. In fact the whole family will be there.

NEPTUNE

The NEPTUNE Water Bed distributes weight so your entire body is evenly supported.

There are no pressure points on a body supported by a water bed. You can fall asleep and wake up in the same position and feel more rested than on a conventional "dead bed." On any other mattress small areas of compression created by uneven disrtibution of body weight cause discomfort, forcing you to toss and turn.

Since water has nearly the same density as the human body, you displace your weight in the water bed, getting instant custom-contoured support suited to your physique.

NEPTUNE'S heating system with comfort control provides penetrating warmth from within the mattress. Adjustable settings will warm you in winter and gently cool you in summer.

It's New To Us

We noticed a woman customer buying polished opals. She is taking a jewelry course at Trenton State, she told us. Another woman purchased some findings and remarked that she had made her husband a tie bar out of red agate (carnelian) and she's now doing a bracelet of polished agate rounds for a Christmas gift for her niece. Customers' jewelry is on sale, alongside imports from India.

The shop has polishing machines ($11.95); powders, or tumbling grits; and a rack full of lapidary magazines and "how to" books. And, from Mexico, chess sets made of onyx. There are various sizes, made as in family cooperative in Mexico.

Silver's Stoneage is open from 10 to 5:30 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday; from 10 to 9 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. The phone is 737-3055.

"I'm going to start a club," Mrs. Silver says in her enthusiastic way. "There isn't one around here. Although I must say the shop is like a club on Thursday and Friday nights and on Saturdays. I have the coffee pot ready, and we all talk rocks."

LEES CARPETS ARRIVE

At Regent Floor. Felix Rossi of Regent Floor Covering, Route 31 Pennington, just north of Pennington Market, has added Lees carpets to the lines of floor covering he carries.

Regent has large (18" x 27") samples so that you can really see the design and color. You may take samples home overnight to get an idea of how the rug you are considering will look.

"Lees is one of the oldest carpet firms," Mr. Rossi says. "It is also one of the few companies that still has a wool line — available in plush, twist, shag, level loop or figured weaves. Lees carpets are also made in nylons, acrylics, polyesters."

Brand Names. Regent Floor also has the Bigelow and Magee carpets — all fine quality. You are given a free estimate, and the rugs are installed by Regent's own mechanics.

Also new for the floor is Armstrong's "Solarium," a vinyl sheet material that comes six feet wide. It shines without waxing. Choose from such designs as marble, mosaic, and contemporary designs titled: Spandero, Country Mill, Royal Villa, Palazzo, Cobble Square and Sunstone.

This is the floor covering for women who hate to wax. It is suitable for any room in the house from hall to living room to kitchen to the bath and nursery.

We also want to tell you that the Armstrong "Fancy Free" vinyl cushion floor covering, has made a hit with Regent's customers. This is because, probably, there is matching wallpaper and drapery fabric. Browse the catalogue in the Floor Fashion Center of the shop and you'll see decorator ideas that will bemuse you.

Armstrong has a guarantee, Mr. Rossi reminds us, covering defective material and installation.

Regent Floor Covering is open 9 to 5 daily, and stays open on Thursday and Friday evenings until 9 p.m.

THE KNIT NOOK

On Route 206. Heading out Route 206 to Belle Mead, you'll see the unusual sewing center known as the Knit Nook located in a red barn just short of the Blawenburg Reformed Church.

Here are designer fabrics, the remainders of special bolts; and an extraordinary collection of single and double knits.

The shop, one of a growing chain, is a division of Leslie Fay, the dress design house represented in better shops, and has a mill in Lincoln, N.C.

The knits are not the ones you will find in the average fabric shop. Double knits rangey from 60-inches to 68-inches wide. Some are polesters; others are wools. (Remember to use polyester thread and a ball point needle when you sew the knits.)

On the shelves by color category, we noticed a soft gray with blue and brown squares, arranged in a contemporary argyle design. ($2.79 per yd). Among the metalic knits (all washable) the Lurex brand, mostly at $3.99 per yard. Browse through silver-on-white in a faint leaf pattern; a deep green with metalic green thread. Some look quilted, others have ohic striping, such as navy - and - orange interspersed with silver metalic bars.

Designer Fabrics. Among the designer fabrics on the second floor, some beautiful lengths for evening wear: crepes, velvets, nets, laces, sheers and metalics. Some are only $2.99 per yard — fabrics that you will find in $150 dresses. There is a quilted velvet in a deep, dark green ($9.99 per yd.) velvet with small embroidered squares of gold and silver; pure silks ($2.59 per yard) in brilliant and soft solid shades; a pique in a rich blue-and-white print; and interesting bordered prints.

Knit Nook has a special section of men's fabrics, suitable for pants, jackets and suits. There are special interfacings suggested for the jackets. Among the Knit Nook's customers is a man who makes his own ties and shirts. He's a car salesman.

New Knit Nooks are being added to the group, Larry Roche, president, told us. He formerly ran the fabric division of Singer Sewing Machine Company. There are Knit Nooks in Hamilton Township and Red Bank, plus three in the south, two in Pennsylvania and one in New York state. Mr. Roche, a young man prowling the shop happily in a bright sport shirts, says, "This is much better than sitting in an office in Rockefeller Plaza!"

Knit Nook has sewing notions, appliques, trims, lining fabrics, and pattern books to browse through. The shop is open on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9:30 to 5:30; Thursdays and Fridays the hours are 9:30 a.m.-9 p.m.; on Saturday it's 10 to 6, and on Sunday, noon until 5 p.m.

MUNICH CHOIR FEATURED

In McCarter Music Series. One of only eight concerts in the United States by the Munich Bach Choir and Orchestra under conductor Karl Richter will highlight the 1972-73 edition of the "Music-at-McCarter" concert series.

The 150 singers and musicians of the Munich organization will come to McCarter on Thursday, October 12 at 8 p.m. in a performance of Bach's "Mass in B Minor." The soloists will include soprano Elisabeth Speiser, contralto Anna Reynolds, tenor Ernst Haefliger, and bass Keith Engen.

During their two-week visit to the United States, the Munich choir and orchestra will present a four-concert Bach series at Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall, and will also appear in Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, and at Dartmouth College.

Subsequent events on the Music-at-McCarter series will include the first Princeton appearances of Soviet pianist Alexander Slobodyanik, violinist Pinchas Zukerman, and harpsichordist Anthony Newman, who will present an all-Bach recital including the "Goldberg Variations."

NEW MEMBERS SOUGHT

By Russian Chorus. The Princeton Russian Chorus is about to begin its third year under the directorship of Daniel Skvir and is seeking new members.

The Chorus is comprised of members of Princeton's academic institutions and area residents. Though primarily gathering weekly for their own enjoyment in singing Russian liturgical and folk music, the members of the Chorus, as a community service, have also presented programs at Merwick, Carrier Clinic and Palmer Square during the Christmas season, and this year they are anxious to expand the program.

Daniel Skvir, who teaches Russian at PDS and is an ordained Russian Orthodox clergyman, encourages new members to join the group; "ability to read the Russian alphabet is not a prerequisite," he advises. Rehearsals will be held in the theater of Princeton Day School on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. beginning Tuesday.

Those interested in joining the chorus should contact Mr. Skvir at PDS, 924-6700, or at home 924-7368.

JAZZ CONCERT PLANNED

For Theatre Intime. Theatre Intime is planning the first of a series of concerts by up and coming artists in the field of jazz. On Sunday, October 1, "Composite" comes to Hamilton Murray Theatre, for two shows at 8 and 11 p.m.

Ticket information and reservations for the October 1 concert may be obtained by calling 452-8181, or writing the Theatre Intime Box Office, Murray Theatre, Princeton University, Princeton, N. J. 08540.

PLAYHOUSE

The Godfather (now playing) Marlon Brando in a classic portrayal of Don Corleone, the head of a Mafia family. It is a strong controlled character study.

The film holds closely to most of the events in Mario Puzo's novel of the same title. It is about gangsterism, and also about the cultural and ethnic ties of the Mafia. It gives a glimpse of the shift from illegal activities to the take-over of legitimate business in order to gain an air of respectability.

There are basically three phases to the film story, one when Don Vito (Marlon Brando) is the head man; two, when Sonny (James Caan) the eldest son replaces him after an assassination attempt, and three, when Michael (Al Pacino), the youngest son eventually takes over.

Two moments do not actually touch upon the direct problems and developments of the family, the scene where Don Vito persuades a Hollywood producer to give his godson, a famous singer (Al Martino) the part he wants in a big new film, and the sequence of Michael's hideout in Sicily.

A film about violence, the violent scenes do not dominate—although they are graphic in detail.

GARDEN

Easy Rider (now playing) is a frightening view of America, as seen through youthful eyes and brilliant camerawork.

Dennis Hopper and Peter Fonda produced, directed and wrote (with Terry Southern) the film, and play the leading roles. As two young, long-haired motorcyclists, they hand over a wad of bills to a Mexican, get a supply of dope, take time out to sniff cocaine—then, at an airport in the States, turn the stuff over to another character, who pays them off.

Fonda puts the money in a tube, hides it in the stars-and-stripes decorated gas tank of the motorcycle, puts on his black leather jacket with the flag on the back, and the two young men, now free of financial worries, set out across the country to see the Mardi Gras.

So the film begins. As they journey, they meet up with prejudice, fear, a hippie commune, jail, and introduce an American Civil Liberties worker to marijuana. Attacked by vigilantes, they escape and find refuge in a New Orleans brothel, where they have a "bad trip" on LSD. The ending is nearly anticlimactic.

The cyclists are not combatants, but a couple of withdrawn alienated, somehow pathetic, sometimes poetic and often humorous products of a society that finally eliminates them. The film catches the mystique of the motorcycle and the beauty of the countryside. The music — a dozen rock and folk-rock songs — intensifies the mood of pathos and impending tragedy. Performances are so uniformly good as to seem a kind of documentary record, in a one-sided but effective statement.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC CHAMBER CONCERTS

Music from Marlboro. Masterpieces of the Chamber Music repertoire, performed by artists who prepare these programs during the summer at the Marlboro Music Festival. Artists will include pianists Ruth Laredo, Lee Luvisi; violinists Felix Galimir, Jaime Laredo, Hiroko Yajima; violists John Graham, Nobuko Imai; cellist Ronald Leonard; clarinetist Richard Stoltzman.

The Da Capo Chamber Players (Allen Blustine, Clarinet, Helen Harbison, 'Cello, Joel Lester, Violin, Patricia Spencer, Flute, Joan Tower, Piano) is an ensemble of five young musicians drawn together by their experience in and dedication to the performance of contemporary music. The Da Capo policy of presenting some works twice on the same program is based on the strong conviction that two readings make possible a more penetrating listening experience, particularly of a new piece.

Michael Podolski, Lutenist and Christiane Van Acker, Mezzo-soprano. FEE IS INCREASED

For Platform Tennis Permit. The fee per person for a season's ticket for platform tennis—paddle ball—at Community Park has been raised from $7.50 to $12.50. A season's ticket enables the holder to reserve the courts and to participate in league play.

A new permit for league play only has been introduced this season. The cost: $5 per person. In a sense, this is a reduction for some, observed recreation director Donald Barr. Many of those who had to purchase $7.50 permits last year only participated in league play, he said.

A limited number of non-resident permits will be issued for league participation only at a cost of $10 per person.

Commenting on the increase, Mr. Barr said the fee "had to go up." He pointed out that two more paddle tennis courts will be constructed this fall and that the Recreation Department has to pay the construction cost as well as operating expenses.

"We also have a moral obligation to pay the operating costs of the two old courts, so we're talking about the operating costs of four courts and the construction cost of two," he said.

Last year there were more than 200 season tickets issued for platform tennis. With more facilities this year, Mr. Barr sees that figure as going much higher.

Two Bids Received. Specifications for construction of the two new courts were sent to six companies and two bids have been received. One from Richard G. Reilly Jr., Inc. for $18,200 and another from Sports Marketing Associates Corp. for $17,000. Both firms are located in Connecticut.

The latter bid was accepted by the board Tuesday night.

Mr. Barr reported that he hopes to have construction of the courts completed by November 1, in time for the paddle tennis season.

Play Time Lengthened: In another policy change concerning paddle tennis, the period for which a court can be reserved has been extended from one hour to an hour and a half.

One hour just wasn't long enough to get three sets in, Mr Barr explained. In the long run, this will make the courts more accessible to more people.

What had happened in the past on occasion, he said, was that two people would sign up

THE DEBATE CONTINUES

Over Proposed Gym Use. The debate over the proposed use of the former Miss Fine's School gymnasium by the Princeton Recreation Department continued Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Recreation Board.

On the one side is the Recreation Board which wants to use the gym as a community center for young people, adults and the elderly—those whose recreational needs the board says it is neglecting. On the other are the residents of Boudinot Street, directly behind the gym, who are concerned about the noise, glare and parking, which increased use of the gym will bring. In the middle are Borough Council and Committee which have to approve or reject the project.

Acting recreation board chairman Sanford Reynolds reported that at a meeting with Council and Committee last week, both governing bodies unanimously accepted the concept of the Recreation Department trading off an acre of land at Community Park to the Princeton Nursery School in exchange for use of the gym if it would benefit a maximum number of people in the community and not bother neighbors.

At the request of Council and Committee, he reported that the Recreation Board is now in the process of conducting a feasibility study to determine the cost of making the gym structurally sound, for renovating it "for what we have in mind" and for eliminating the problems of light, glare and parking. The board hopes to have the plan completed within a month, he said, at which time it will be released to the public.

Nub of the Problem. "What use are you going to put the gym to?" asked former Borough mayor Charles R. Erdman Jr., of 20 Boudinot Street. "I think that is the nub of the whole problem."

Some of the suggestions proposed for the elderly include games such as checkers, chess, bingo, films, lectures, square dancing, arts and crafts, concert and drama productions, shuffleboard, pool, team games and tournaments. Added for preteens and teens are volleyball, basketball, badminton, dances, rap sessions, special interest groups (drama crafts, music, physical fitness, charm school) and learning experiences (first aid, auto mechanics, hunter safety courses). For adults: team games, physical fitness activities, archery and special events. Mr. Reynolds emphasized they were just suggestions at this point.

Emily Lambert, 15 Boudinot, questioned the board at some length about possible zoning violations. She cited sections dealing with the cessation of operation of a non-conforming building for a period of one year or more, the providing of access parking for all new construction and conversions in a residential-1 zone and the setting of parking requirements by the Planning Board for all permitted uses not mentioned by the zoning ordinance.

She felt it was possible the proposed use might be in conflict with one or all three. However, at a meeting of the board last week, Donald Barr, recreation director, told the board that a preliminary, tentative finding from Borough attorney Gordon Griffin was that no variances would be needed.

As for parking, Miss Lambert asked, "Where is it going to come from? We already have a serious parking problem on Boudinot from people who work in town and park their cars there." The 38 slots at nearby Borough Hall are all specially earmarked for Borough Hall use, she added. She also commented that the main thrust of the lawyer representing some of the Boudinot residents was that the Borough should not turn over control of the gym to the Recreation Department.

The implied threat of legal action kept surfacing and several members of the board spoke to it, including Council liaison to the board Martin Lombardo.

"I hope the neighbors on Boudinot work with Council and work work out the problem," he said. "I hope it doesn't evolve into a legal battle. I'm getting some strong reactions from the community, from the John Street area. They can't understand why people would be opposed to such a facility as this.

"It comes down to a simple story of sharing responsibility in the community."

"Terribly Premature." Board member William Armiger described any legal procedures as "terribly premature." "If," he said, "we proceed with this in a responsible way, if we reason it out properly and try to do what is best for the community, there is no need for legal action. If it comes, we'll just have to face up to it."

Mr. Barr pointed out that the Recreation Department has been trying, unsuccessfully, for the past four years to get the gym from the Borough. "This isn't something we have seized upon overnight," he said.

Also present was the other half in the proposed swap, the Princeton Nursery School, represented by president Mrs. Henry Broad. Architect Percy Mogan presented a preliminary site plan to the board, showing the proposed one-story nursery school located on a 1.2 acre lot tucked in the southern corner of Community Park next to Route 206.

The Nursery School will appear before the Regional Planning Board with its plan on October 3.

The addition of the school means relocating one of the baseball playing fields but Mr. Barr assured the board that the department will retain all four fields and still have room to add a proposed fifth field next year near the tennis courts. "I would say the school fits in with the land use itself," he said.

Mrs. Broad was somewhat apprehensive about the Recreation Board making the land swap conditional on its receiving a green light to use the Miss Fine's gym. "The Nursery School never actually obtained the gym, so its not a fair swap, really," she said. "We have no say in the matter."

Fair or not, it was a question of precedent, the board replied. "We didn't want to establish the precedent of giving land to someone without getting something in return," commented Mr. Reynolds. "We would open ourselves up to all other requests; that is the reason why we attached the contingency."

The nursery school is being designed for a maximum of 135 students. Parking for 12 cars would be located below grade from home properties bordering the site.

Have You Seen This Dog?

Borough police are eager to hear from anyone who may have seen a black Labrador with white markings on his chest and wearing a red collar.

The dog bit two 13-year-old boys Friday night around 9:30 in the vicinity of Prospect Avenue.

"It is important for anyone recognizing the dog to call the police," said Chief Michael Carnevale. "All we want to establish is whether the dog has had his rabies shots." Otherwise, he said that the boys will have to undergo a painful series of inoculation shots.

Obituaries

Mrs. Kate O. W. Wight of 523 Snowden Lane, died September 17 in the Merwick unit of Princeton Medical Center, just one day short of her 100th birthday.

A few hours before her death she received a congratulatory letter from Governor William T. Cahill, and last Thursday received birthday greetings from President Nixon, brought by his daughter, Mrs. Edward Cox.

Mrs. Wight, a native of Missouri and a graduate of DePaul University, was the wife of the late Rev. E. Van Dyke Wight, pastor of the Webb Horton Memorial Church in Middletown, N.Y. for 28 years. The Wights moved to Princeton in 1936 when the Rev. Mr. Wight became Minister of Kingston Presbyterian Church, a post he held until 1946. She was active in many church functions.

Surviving are a son, William P. Wight of Green Valley, Ariz. a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Wight at home; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Kingston Presbyterian Church, the Rev. James L. Mechem officiating. Memorial gifts may be made to the Kingston Presbyterian Church. Arrangements were made by the Mather Funeral Home.

Robert Casadesus, 73, formerly on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, died September 19 in a Paris hospital following surgery performed two weeks ago. A famed French pianist and composer, he gave more than 3,000 concerts during his career, often appearing with his wife, Gaby, and his son, Jean, who was killed earlier this year in an automobile accident.

Mr. Casadesus spent six months of each year in the United States and six months in Europe. He and his wife sold their Lawrenceville Road home about a year ago after living there for many years. They moved nearer to their daughter, Therese, who resides in the Philadelphia area. A son, Guy, lives in Paris.

The composer-pianist's last concert appearance was at the Prades, France, Music Festival this year. He composed some 60 musical works, including six symphonies and many compositions for the piano. He was recognized as a foremost interpreter of Mozart, saying at one time, "Mozart is the touchstone of all pianists. Hall a dozen bars and you can tell whether the pianist has purity, technique and above all whether he has a heart . . ."

A pianist in the classical tradition, he shunned theatrical effects and quietly sought the inner harmonies of a work. He was fond of jazz, particularly small combos, which he called the "chamber music of jazz." His favorite jazz pianist was Teddy Wilson, who one came backstage to congratulate him after hearing a performance of the "Emperor" Concerto by Beethoven.

Mrs. Kate Wight

NEW VW AGENCY OWNERS: Philipp Z. Feldman (left) and his son, Robert, are the new owners of the Volkswagen agency on Route 206. Story this page.

BUSINESS In Princeton

VW AGENCY SOLD

To Philipp S. Feldman. The Volkswagen dealership on Rt. 206 has been sold to Philipp Z. Feldman, a veteran automobile executive who formerly owned a Chevrolet and Olds mobile agency in northern New Jersey and a VW sales service and parts center in Monticello, N.Y.

Mr. Feldman has changed the name of the agency here from Princeton Motors, Inc., to Princeton Volkswagen, Ltd. His son, Robert, is general manager.

The new firm, says Mr. Feldman, will provide the best possible service to customers and restore and maintain Volkswagen's prestige and popularity in the area.

In addition to selling and servicing a full line of VW cars, convertibles, station wagons and trucks, the firm will also carry a variety of 100 percent guaranteed domestic and imported used cars plus a large inventory of VW parts and accessories.

A graduate of New York University, Mr. Feldman is a certified public accountant. His hobbies are playing the violin and skiing.

ARCHITECT NAMED

To Building Task Force. Robert E. Sussna, Architect, has been appointed by Mr. Max Urbahn, President of the American Institute of Architects, to the Institute's national Constraints to Building, Task Force.

The purpose of the Task Force is to work for training and increased participation of minority groups in the construction industry.

Mr. Sussna, a graduate of Cornell University, has been practicing architecture since 1965 and maintains his offices at 20 Nassau Street, Princeton. His work includes industrial, commercial, housing and school buildings in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

CONTRACT AWARDED

To Base Ten Systems. Base Ten Systems has received authorization from the Grumman Aerospace Corporation of Bethpage, to proceed on a $200,000 contract for the Data Acquisition System portion of the Tracked Air Cushion Research Vehicle (TACRV).

The TACRV is a high speed ground transportation test vehicle designed and built by Grumman for the United States Department of Transportation. This vehicle is expected to play a major role in the Government's efforts to meet the nation's present and future needs for high speed intercity surface transportation.

SURVEY DIRECTOR NAMED

By Opinion Research. Nancy Cavanaugh, North Harrison Street, has been promoted to assistant survey director of Opinion Research Corporation.

In her new position, her responsibilities will include questionnaire preparation, writing, library research, editing and managing the psysical production of reports for the Public Opinion Index.

Hot Line Working

"I'm quite happy with the results."

This was Chief Michael Carnevale's comment two weeks after he had installed a confidential "hot line" to the police department.

"We've received some calls on it," reported Chief Carnevale, who listens to the recorded messages every morning. "Surprisingly enough, there have been no crank calls," he added.

The number, for anyone who wishes to pass on information to the police regarding drugs, crime or anything suspicious, is 921-8221. Callers need not give their name.

Misguided Pacifists.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Florence Falk's letter in behalf of Daniel Ellsberg and the local "Citizens in Search of Peace" (Town Topics, Sept. 14) asserts that "essentially the same rationale that has been successfully relied upon to eliminate IDA from Princeton University applies to the Princeton community as a whole." If so, then essentially the same rationale applies to this nation as a whole, and Mrs. Falk's argument would exclude military research from the whole continental territory of the United States, and deny our government the conditions needed to "prepare for the common defense."

Nothing could make more evident that the engine behind the opposition to IDA is a universal pacifism, and not opposition to the Vietnam war alone or to a particular weapons system alone ("electronic battlefields"). Pacifists I have known and honored would not be so self-righteous or totalitarian in their efforts to use the power of local government to repress the right of others to engage in activities they, too, as sincerely believe may be for the national common good.

One ought, instead, try to influence government policies to adopt pacifism and no military preparedness. Would that not be better than harrassing our neighbors and fellow citizens with petitions whose objective is their compulsory expulsion from this neighborhood?

Incidentally, I have on my library shelves a book entitled "Uncertain Mandate," by Ernest W. Lefever, now with the Brookings Institution in Washington. Published by the Johns Hopkins Press in 1967, the book is a study of the U.N. peace keeping operation in the Congo -the only peace-keeping operation (as distinct from peace-watching) conducted by an international agency in modern times. That major study was funded in part by contract with IDA. If we are ever to limit international violence, do we not need to know the hazards and promise of international peace-keeping?

IDA Policies Defended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Daniel Ellsberg spoke at a rally at Alexander Hall, Friday in connection with the drive of the Citizens in Search of Peace group to prevent the Communications Research Division of the Institute for Defense Analyses from relocating in Princeton. He covered a number of topics.

Mr. Ellsberg generally spoke against secrecy (although he admitted that he was not in favor of disclosing all United States secrets during a short impromptu debate with Lee Neuwirth, deputy director of the ORD division of IDA). Almost the theme of Mr. Ellsberg's discussion was that there was an intimate relation between secrecy and lying. He suggested that the Pentagon Papers were primarily secrets from the American people rather than from other nations and that secrecy was frequently or mainly used to hide mistakes or things you were ashamed of.

The CRD division of IDA here in Princeton has many secrets. (a) No lying to anyone is involved. (b) The secrecy is from other nations, not from the American people. Its purpose is to help the United States in the present world in which there are other "competing" nations. (c) There is no mistake hiding or shame involved in this secrecy. (d) I cannot see how to tell these secrets to all Americans without thereby telling them to all the world.

Mr. Ellsberg decried government snooping into private secrets of individuals. In the aforementioned debate, he said he believed the United States should have an army but in his model world it would be of the size necessary to repel an invasion from Canada (say).

I can imagine and would like to live in a world in which there are absolutely no secrets, either national or private, and in which military force is totally unnecessary. The question is how we get from here to there.

Is unilateral United States disarmament and abandonment of national security secrecy the answer? Would it set a good example for other nations or would it invite the wolf in with the sheep? Of course no one can give a definitive answer.

If we consult history as Mr. Ellsberg admonished us to do, we observe that war and the necessity of defense has been perpetual throughout the several thousand years of recorded history. What mechanism or change in man makes this year different from all other years?

Some might argue that Princeton University should belong to the world (although it is paid for in one form or another by Americans) and hence that an organizations such as the CRD division of IDA does not belong on the Princeton University campus. Is one prepared to argue similarly about Princeton city?

Mr. Ellsberg also spoke at length of the Viet Nam War. The CRD division of IDA has not been involved with the Viet Nam War.

Although an employee of the CRD division of IDA I do not speak for CRD, but only for myself.

An Ignored Cyclist Protests.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am one of Princeton's many bicyclists. As a cyclist I am expected to follow and obey rules set down for automobilists. By the same token, I feel entitled to share a motorist's rights with regard to rights of way, etc.

Case in point:

Today as I rode home from the YW, I travelled the entire length of the road named, at various points, Avalon Place, Wiggins, Hamilton, and Littlebrook North. With the exceptions of stoplights at the crossings of Witherspoon and Harrison Sts., and of a stop sign at Snowden Lane, this route affords me a continuous "right of way."

Today, however, as I rode through the intersection at Wiggins and Witherspoon, a van going west turned left across my path. At Vandeventer, a car turned left onto Wiggins in front of me. At the Walnut Hamilton crossing I was once again ignored by a motorist crossing the road I was on. And heading down the hill on Littlebrook Rd. North, far from any mainstream of traffic, a van turned from a driveway onto the road, head first and with good visibility, into my path.

In each case I was going at a good, steady pace. And each time the vehicles passed within 15 to 30 feet of me, an unsafe (to say nothing of unfair) distance by my reckoning in these circumstances.

I will be riding my bicycle on Princeton roads at least until June and certainly do not relish the thought of being strung out on some careless driver's car-hood. And at that, I don't think they'd like it either.

Is Public Housing Needed?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Is there really a need for low income family housing in Princeton? This is a very basic question, and one would suppose that the proponents of the Yedlin project would have at their fingertips all the facts to support the alleged need.

This is especially important because an established need for such housing is the only basis on which the zoning board could possibly invoke the "public good" section of the zoning ordinance in order to grant a variance.

The project requires variances of such enormous scope that only the most pressing public need could justify a favorable decision by the board.

In view of this, Mrs. Karin Slaby's testimony at the Sept. 5 hearing was simply astonishing. Mrs. Slaby is, after all, the director of the BHA and a prime mover of the project.

The board, having sat through extremely lengthy testimony about birdlife, trees, the pipeline, etc., was at last able to question Mrs. Slaby on the "need." Her answers would hardly inspire support for the Yedlin project.

She could point to no relevant survey, no study, not one single organized body of facts to support her contention that Princeton needs such low income housing as envisioned in the Yedlin project.

A striking part of her testimony was the admission that as of September 5, a full seven months after the BHA publicly announced its intention to build such a project, she could supply no data on any family living in the township who was known to want to live in the project!

Another Yedlin witness tried to rescue the situation with the information that the "need" was to be directly inferred from the master plan which calls for 550 units of low income housing to be built at some indefinite time, at some unspecified place. But where did the master planners get this magic figure?

A good guess may be that the March 7 amendment of the Master Plan raised the figure from 200 to 550 more or less arbitrarily; the planning board's subcommittee to study housing needs is still in the process of trying to determine the need!

Surely a community with the intellectual resources of Princeton can do better than this. Do this many low income families of Princeton really want or need this aid? If so, which means shall we use to help them?

For example, might they be better off aided by rent subsidies? This is but one of scores of alternatives to the Yedlin project. And if the Yedlin concept is found to be superior, which of the scores of possible building sites is best?

These questions should have been the most thorough consideration long ago. The fail-

Bob Powell.
Barbara Sigmund.

The Democratic ticket for Borough Council.

Princeton is rich in opportunity, diversity, and natural beauty. Our challenge is to make this an even better place to live, for all our citizens.

Bob Powell and Barbara Sigmund are campaigning this fall for a better transportation system for Princeton, including bicycle paths, a mini-bus system, and safer streets for pedestrains and children.

They believe our parks and recreation areas can be improved with more imaginative landscaping, equipment, and programs.

They believe local government must respond to the problems of noise, pollution, drug abuse, race relations, and difficulties of senior citizens, and respond not just with studies and discussions, but with action and follow-through.

The training and experience in government these two candidates will bring to Borough Council can give Princeton the leadership we need to cope with our problems and plan for our future.

Vote for Robert Powell & Barbara Sigmund.

Correct Words Used.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Regarding the attack upon me contained in the Hartmann letter you published last week. (Town Topics, September 14 issue) may I make the following statement:

Should I mean "black", I would write "black". I used the words "poor" and "ghetto" in the letter of mine which you published in their usual sense, and not as a mealy-mouthed metonymy for "black".

It might pay Mr. Hartmann to read my letter instead of scanning it. I would then consider whether to accept his apology.

ARNOLD I. DUMEY

Lloyd Terrace No Ghetto.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I think that the Princeton Housing Authority does a good job at managing Lloyd Terrace of which I am a resident.

I don't think anyone could say it is a "ghetto" here, neither in the literal sense nor in today's sense of this word. Why then should the new project of the Housing Authority be a ghetto, as some people fear?

I believe there are scores of people in Princeton who are waiting for a similar place to live as we have here, and I hope the Township Zoning Board of Adjustment recognizes this fact soon.

JESSIE P. SERRELL
189-E Spruce Circle

YWCA Backs Public Housing.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

How many years did it take Princeton to build an adequate library? To build a community swimming pool?

The needs had been articulated and studied, but years elapsed before actual construction. Now Princeton is faced with another controversy, the implementation of low- and middle-income housing. Princeton Community Housing was approved only after long debate. The proposed Yedlin turn-key housing is under heavy attack by sections of the community.

And yet, the documented need for low- and middle-income housing was presented to the community in 1954, 1957, 1964, 1967, and now again in 1972. Historically, Princeton has had a diversity of people. Currently, however, zoning laws and the high cost of new housing are making it impossible for the young, the elderly, people in service work such as our teachers and policemen, governmental employees, and our local small-business employees, to live in the community where they work.

The question inevitably arises - what is important to Princeton? Do we want a Princeton that is the exclusive domain of higher income groups, or a community in which people of all ages and members of all economic, racial, and ethnic groups can find a home?

The needs are obvious and substantiated - why the years of delay when we have the land, the builders and the expertise to solve the problem? What does it say about us all? We all must share the responsibility of seeing that Princeton, its people and its governing bodies, care for and serve the needs of everyone. Active and articulate support for low- and middle-income housing is part of that responsibility.

This letter comes to you from the Board of Directors of the Princeton YWCA with the strong support of the YWCA Racism Committee.

VIRGINIA B. SELDEN
President

Public Housing and Ecology.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a letter I have sent to the Township Board of Adjustment.

JUDITH NIELSEN
387 Mt. Lucas Road

Since Charles Freericks purports to be the chairman of a committee that might be assumed to be made up of the majority of Mt. Lucas Road residents, I, for one, would like to register a separate opinion from his.

I am for low-income housing. The need for it is obvious. The only question to be raised — and this should be applied to ALL high density development, whether it is Kopp, Yedlin, a shopping center complex, or an office building, etc, — is if the area is a critical one and can bear the construction in an ecological sense.

There are these sensitive areas in Princeton which, if we tamper with them without having evaluated the consequences, will either be terribly expensive or impossible to repair in later years.

Before we have any high density development, we ought to pinpoint these crucial spots in Princeton and do a resource inventory of our town. This means bringing other recommendations, considerations, and pressures to bear on our Planning Boards than the predominantly economic ones which they have had to deal with for a long time.

Unfortunately we have tended to think in a piecemeal fashion in the past, and we are beginning to pay for it now. Do you realize that our sewerage treatment plant is already overloaded and is not due to be enlarged until 1976? That a two-inch rainfall causes such overflow that raw sewerage is dumped into Carnegie Lake and the Millstone River system?

My point is let us stop wasting our effort and do the job so it can have a positive lasting life to it.

Anti-Housing Letters Refuted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have read the recent letters of Mr. Brower, Mr. Freericks, Mr. Dumey and Mr. Pietrinferno, who represent neighborhood opposition to the proposed low-income housing between Route 206 and Mt. Lucas Road.

It is perfectly understandable that some people are against such housing on grounds either of personal interest (i.e. they believe their property values will go down, whether or not this is in fact, true) or on philosophical grounds. But I have yet to read any reasonable justification in these letters full of factual misinformation, frightening insinuation, conjecture, and rather disgusting crocodile tears over the poor "Poor" being forced to live down the road from all of us rich folk who have it made.

Although the term "ghetto" has been used many times, with all its racial implications, the only ghetto I see in Princeton's future if this housing (and that of PCH) is not allowed to develop, is that "golden ghetto" of the one-class rich and almost pure white town so many already classify it as being. I can't imagine anything more guaranteed to lessen the quality of life here.

As to the oft-cited "increase of density" argument, certainly this project will have a higher density than the presently permitted one dwelling unit to 1½ acres of land (and this would hold true for any alternative sites these gentlemen propose). If anyone states (as do many of the opponents to this housing) that he is in favor of low-moderate income housing but against density changes, he is caught in self-contradiction.

If one favors the stimulation and dynamics of a diversity of population, and if one believes it is morally and socially irresponsible to shut oneself off from those who differ from us in economic status (which is most of the rest of the world including these United States), then one must accept that with the present cost of land and building, multiple dwellings are the only feasible way of retaining this diversity in Princeton. Can we afford to lose our young, our old and anybody whose income is less than the Township's median income of $21,075?

Two groups of low buildings, each with 50 units, set in the midst of 14.5 wooded acres, cannot be seriously considered a threat to the neighborhood. One has only to look at the attractive, well-tended project put up by this same Housing Authority on N. Harrison Street and know that these are 50 units set on only 3.5 acres of land, to see the absurdity of the "density" argument.

And when Mr. Dumey says "the project huddles its units virtually in the center of the property (speaking of the proposed project), that is just a deliberately misleading way of describing the planning concept of "clustering" dwelling units closer together to maximize the conservation of the natural setting and minimize roads and sewer lines. Princeton Township has had an ordinance since 1969 allowing for "cluster development" because this is considered an excellent means of conserving ecological features and cutting costs.

As to the implied slur on all multifamily dwellings, using frightening words such as "slum," "ghetto," "alienation," etc, this would lead an unknowing observer to believe knowing observer to believe that the Housing Authority wanted to put up 20-story tower blocks and create an urban jungle instead of these low buildings (none higher than 2 stories) in their wooded setting.

This project will belong to the local Housing Authority, and must conform to local building and housing code regulations. Furthermore, the Federal government through HUD (Dept. of Housing and Urban Development), cannot, as has been so often incorrectly stated, "decide to expand the number of units any time they please". This is indeed the technique of the Big Lie and needs to be so labelled.

And as to the undisputed fact that instead of taxes the Housing Authority will pay 10% of its gross shelter rents, as it does for its other projects in the Borough, we as a community must be willing to pay for what we believe to be of benefit to the town as a whole. This commitment to human values has been written into our Master Plan and corroborated by our Township Committee on a number of occasions.

Need has been proven statistically in study after study over many years, most recently in Sternlieb's 1970 report for the Regional Planning Board. There is no question of the Housing Authority being "reluctant to prove" need. It has its own waiting lists and knowledge of the community's needs derived both from human contact and the varied and various reports on Princeton including the last census figures. These are available to every citizen and certainly to Zoning Board members, although the questioning at the September 5th hearings indicated an incredible lack of knowledge of the resources for information.

Our local newspapers have published articles and reports on the housing needs of Princeton for years. Some have chosen to ignore these and live in a fool's paradise. One can only hope that most Princetonians have done as our elected officials have done . . . have read, pondered, and arrived at a decision to do what is socially responsible and ease the way for the continued existence of low and moderate income people in our town.

Clergy Supports Housing.

To the Editor, Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter sent to the Township Board of Ajustment.

RALPH BLOOM
Chairman,
Presbyterian Commission

The Presbyterian Commission composed of clergy and lay members of Princeton's three Presbyterian churches join the Princeton Pastors' Association and the Princeton Interfaith Council in supporting the Princeton Housing Authority's projects.

The Commission urges the Zoning Board of Princeton Township to act favorably on the request to rezone for multiple family dwellings at the Mt. Lucas-Ewing site.

Eighteen years ago mens' groups of the three churches recognized the need for low-cost housing and helped to pioneer the Princeton Housing Group. Members of the Commission are well aware from knowledge of their own congregations of the need for such housing and would like to see construction to relieve this need start as soon as possible.

ART
In Princeton

GRANTS AVAILABLE
To New Jersey Artists. For the third consecutive year New Jersey artists have the opportunity to apply to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts for up to $1,000 in funding to aid in the creation of a current or prospective work.

"Operation Mini-Grant," which distributed $20,000 in grants to 20 state artists last summer, will grow to $22,500 in funds in 1973, and artists have until January 15 to submit their applications for the grants.

Created to support the efforts of individual artists, mini-grants are available to visual artists (painters, sculptors, craftsmen, printmakers, photographers), composers, choreographers, film makers, writers (prose writers, poets, playwrights), video artists, multi media artists and others.

The major requirement is that the funds granted be applied to the completion of a specific project, either current or projected, and that, within a reasonable period of time, it will result in a completed item or reach a point of significant progress which clearly indicates the scope of the finished piece.

There are no restriction on the type of project eligible, nor is the professional status of the artist necessarily a critical factor.

Application forms may be obtained from the NJSCA at 27 West State Street, Trenton, N. J., 08625, or by calling 292-6130. All supporting materials must be accompanied by an application form and a stamped, self-addressed return envelope if the artist wishes the material returned after the judging.

ARTIST JOINS STAFF
Of Studio on the Canal. Jo Ann Bridge, Trenton artist, joins the roster of instructors at the Studio on the Canal to conduct the Saturday morning Creative Painting workshop, beginning September 30. The class will be held outdoors, weather permitting.

Mrs. Bridge formerly taught art for Burlington Township High School and was an arts and crafts teacher in the recreation program of the Training School for Girls.

She attended Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., received her B.A. at Glassboro State College and did graduate work in art at Trenton State College and the Tyler School of Art.

Registrations are being accepted for the workshop which is limited to 10. A bulletin is available by phoning the studio, at 452-9053.

VARIED COURSES LISTED
By Art Association. Aspiring painters, sculptors and craftsmen will soon be able to enroll in a wide range of courses offered this fall by the Princeton Art Association.

According to Helen Gallagher, chairman of the Association's class committee, the new schedule represents the most extensive selection of classes in the Association's 10-year history.

"It's a varied, balanced program," she said. "This year, the classes for both young people and adults have been expanded and several excellent new teachers have joined our staff."

The newly expanded Young People's Program includes courses in pottery making without a wheel, printmaking, and techniques of fiber construction. The

SURVEY UNAUTHORIZED

By League of Women Voters The League of Women Voters has learned that unauthorized telephone calls are being made to area residents using the League name in a survey asking which Presidential candidate residents are planning to vote for.

The League is definitely not conducting any such survey and wants the public to be alerted. For 52 years the League of Women Voters has prided itself on its non-partisan policy. While it provides information about candidates, it never undertakes surveys of this nature. It never supports or opposes candidates or political parties.

ELEVEN ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Eleven Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. in Borough traffic court. All eleven paid $15 fines.

They are Louis P. Scibetta, 37, 68 Hickory Court; Barbara P. Michael, 44, 63 Hemlock Circle; and Kenneth N. Forrestal, 38, 40 Main Street, Kingston, all for speeding; John V. Denise, 56, 85 Mason Drive, and Christopher J. Reef, 21, 9 Hamilton Avenue, both stop sign violations; and Gladys M. White, 85, 154 Library Place, red light.

Also, Olga R. Greene, 46, RD 4, following too closely; Percy Renson, 31, 150 Witherspoon Street, failure to notify motor vehicle department of change of address; Charles A. Scuderati, 26, 54 Murray Place, failure to signal before turning; Janet K. Kuhn, 36, 48 Bradburn Drive, one - way street; and Harriet D. Feldman, 53, 262 Jefferson Road, improper exit from parking lot.

ANNUAL FAIR PLANNED

In Rocky Hill. A single-mindedness of purpose takes hold of most people in Rocky Hill when fall comes.

The entire town rallies for the annual and highly successful fund-raising fete, known as the Bid n' Buy Auction, from the early years when that's about all that went on.

It benefits the Rocky Hill Community Group, which maintains a Center in a pre-Revolutionary house on Washington Road, where a branch of the Somerset County Public Library functions with a volunteer staff, and where a complete program of activities is mounted each year.

The all-day event will be held in the baseball field in the center of Rocky Hill, just off Washington Road, beginning at 10 a.m.

Under the general chairmanship of Frances Merritt, Sue Myers, and Charlotte Owen, community members are making final plans and preparations. Rosemarie Scibetta and Stephanie Gittleman are in charge of collecting items for the auction, and should be called by those wishing to donate anything.

A feature this year will be pastel sketches done by Florence Taylor. Miss Taylor is well known in and around Princeton for her portrait work. Joanna Fiori will be repeating her successful display of pottery.

Many of the varied attractions of the several booths have become traditional. The Green Thumb will have a wide selection of plants and bulbs, plus many flats of pachysandra. The Apron Booth is working to produce a large number of these very popular, stylized cover ups. The Book Booth will sell second - hand books of all kinds; Peggy Lamb and Betty Hague will welcome any donations of childrens' and adult books.

Fire Company. A popular feature of the Bid 'n' Buy is the presence of the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company and the Rocky Hill First Aid and Rescue Squad. The Fire Co. provides popcorn, cotton candy, and hay rides; the Rescue Squad gives demonstrations of first aid.

An innovation at this year's fall fair will be the Silent Auction. Index cards offering a person's time, talent, or equipment will record the bids of interested buyers, and at set time intervals these offerings will be sold to the highest bidder, and a new set of exciting index card offers will be posted.

The baseball field will be busy with numerous children's games and activities, several of which are free.

CLASSES OFFERED

By Rocky Hill Group. The Rocky Hill Community Group has announced classes for the fall season.

Joan Higgins is once again teaching her popular course in basic sewing by the Bishop Method. There will be an adult class on Wednesday mornings and a special teenage class on Wednesday afternoons from 4 to 5:30.

The Judo class has expanded to three groups to accommodate beginners from 7 up, and advanced beginners 7 to 10 years and 11 and older. Bram Oort is the instructor for these classes on Thursday evenings. Bridge for Fun with expert coaching by Howard Waxwood, Jr. will meet on Wednesday afternoons. A second group is also forming for instruction on Thursday evenings.

Creative Needlework, taught by Jo Carris is to be held on Tuesday mornings. This class will work samplers and plan original designs.

More information can be obtained from Mrs. J.E. Meggitt, 80 Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, who will also accept registrations. The classes are open to all, but non-members are reminded that there is a $2 registration fee. All classes will begin the week of Sept. 25.

SILK SCREEN SPECIALIST: Ann Gross prepares to make a new print at the Princeton Art Association's Spring Street studio. A graduate of Smith College and the Pratt Institute, Mrs. Gross will teach a new course in silk screening printing techniques beginning October 2 as part of the Association's fall series of classes.

addition of Rowena Kinsman, Josin B. Needham, and Carleigh Hoff to the Association's staff made these new classes possible.

Continuing this year will be Sharon Safran's workshop for young people aged 7-10.

Among the new adult level courses will be a class in basic drawing and painting taught by well-known painter Armando Morales of the Cooper Union Art School.

Other new offerings include advanced printmaking with Judith K. Brodsky, basic techniques of sculpture with Jeanne Parsley, and an introduction to silk screen printing taught by Ann Gross.

BARNS

TO LIVE IN

Are you one of the few people with the rare sensitivity to your environment to appreciate the pure functional, architectural beauty of barns in beautiful countryside settings?

Ever think of how great it would be to live in soaring, airy spaces and cozy hideaways among a massive tree beamed structure? There's something very satisfying about seeing how your place is put together and in being with the strength and beauty of old wood worked by craftsmen on a different age. People living in ordinary plastic environments will never know.

Ask us about some of the barns we have . . . of different sizes and in different places just waiting to be redone. We know someone experienced and willing to provide all the amenities of a modern home within the framework of a beautiful old barn.

We also have one that's already been converted into a fantastic place to live. 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths, great beams, space, skylight, beautiful stone walled "Rec" room, all on 3.6 plus acres. If you're into barns, you ought to see it.

"GUERNSEY HALL"

PRINCETON'S ONE AND ONLY
LUXURY CONDOMINIUM

A unique complex of five elegant apartments, created from one of Princeton's great mid-nineteenth century manor houses. During remodelling, which is currently underway, the utmost care will be taken to preserve the architectural integrity of the classic Italian villa design, including the grand rotunda and lavish interior detail. Each unit has at least one, if not two, rooms with the generous proportions, high ceilings and fireplaces of the original plus at least two bedrooms, new baths and kitchen. Elevator and live-in caretaker will be among the indespensible conveniences. In a distinguished Western Princeton location, "Guernsey Hall" stands in a serene 2 acre garden which will be maintained for the enjoyment of the new owners. Three of the five units are still available from $95,000. Occupancy late Spring 1973.

Why I Plan to Vote

DEMOCRATIC

By Joseph L. Stonaker

Born and raised in Princeton, Joseph L. Stonaker, 30 Bainbridge Street, maintains a private law practice in town.

I plan to vote for Barbara Sigmund and Bob Powell, the Democratic candidates for Borough Council, because they display both vision and common sense when they talk about small-town government in the 1970's.

As a native of Princeton, I am pleased to find they share my conviction that this is not just another typical suburban town, nor do they want to see it become one.

They share both my appreciation of Princeton's educational and cultural heritage, and of its great natural beauty, and my concern about the impact on Princeton of the tough and divisive problems of the wider society.

Dealing with such problems — which touch all segments of our community — takes the kind of sensitivity and experience that Barbara and Bob seem to me to possess.

Barbara Sigmund, a graduate of Manhattanville College, teaches American government and religion at Stuart Country Day School, bringing to that job a zest apparent to the parents of any of her pupils.

Her experience in government includes a position as White House researcher for President John F. Kennedy, as well as work in the formation of VISTA, the domestic "Peace Corps." Closer to home, she was an assistant to the Citizens Research Foundation, the Princeton-based organization which studies campaign financing in the U.S.

Her volunteer work in the community has involved her with the Princeton Study Center, with the Princeton Association for Human Rights (PAHR), CCD classes at St. Paul's Church, and service on the board of the Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School. Just last week, her qualities of leadership were recognized in her appointment to the Board of Trustees of Rider College.

Bob Powell's qualifications for public office are equally impressive. Bob prepared for his career with the local Center for Analysis of Public Issues — which parallels, for New Jersey, Ralph Nader's consumer protection efforts— at the University of North Carolina and the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton.

As Research Director at the Center, Bob has written many studies of N.J.'s consumer protection laws, its urban public health programs, and cable television in the state. His most recent project dealing with sanitary conditions in N.J. restaurants, led to a new state "clean-up" effort.

He was recently appointed as a cable television consultant to the F.C.C., and is also completing work on a doctoral dissertation at the Woodrow Wilson School on the federal regulation of television.

Both Bob, and his wife Sharon, have taken a deep interest in the affairs of the town: Bob is an officer in the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, and has supervised Middle School students who, through a work-study program, have done research on local consumer prblems. Sharon has been an English and social studies teacher in the Middle Schools.

The combination of Barbara Sigmund and Bob Powell on the Borough Cuncil, in my opinion, would make a difference to Princeton. In a time of rapid social change — bewildering to many of us — we are fortunate to have such candidates.

REPUBLICAN

By Henry S. Patterson

Henry S. Patterson, 46 Westcott Road, served for three terms as mayor of the Borough. He is an executive with the Elizabethtown Water Co.

In today's world, there is a widespread feeling of frustration concerning the impact the individual can make in determining the course of world and national events. That frustration should not exist on the local municipal level. In Princeton, we can make our opinions and our wishes known and acted upon.

The most important and the first step is to vote at election time for all the candidates, as individual, dedicated people seeking public office. Far too often, particularly during a presidential election, municipal office seekers are overlooked altogether or are considered in the context of the policies and campaign promses of the candidates at the top of the ballot.

To make an intelligent choice, we must carefully study the credentials of all candidates on every level. As a former Mayor of Princeton Borough, serving at a time when our community was undergoing many important changes, I want to especially urge you to study the Borough Council election and the candidates. These will be the elected officials who will have such a strong, direct impact on Princeton and its future. Borough Council needs as its members, individuals who bring proven professional and civc credentials to assist our community in facing its present and future problems.

John Dismukes and Michael Myers combine a dedication to their community and its people with the individual expertise that is so necessary for good government. I ask you to vote for both Michael Myers and John Dismukes for Borough Council on November 7.

As a past President of the Princeton Jaycees, John Dismukes has established himself as one of those young men in our community who truly cares about our citizens and what lies ahead. Most recently, he has put in an outstanding stint as Chairman of a special committee appointed by Mayor Bob Cawley to recommend changes in the Borough ordinance governing noise controls.

The extraordinarily thorough amount of work performed by this committee can be traced in large part to John's background as a Senior Research Associate at the David Sarnoff Research Center. In compiling his recommendations, he has put in literally dozens of hours talking to hundreds of community residents.

Mike Myers is someone who comes to candidacy for Borough government with equally impressve credentials. As a Vice President of a large investment firm, he makes, on a daily basis, many successful yet difficult financial decisions. The Borough of Princeton will lose its foremost financial watch dog on January 1, 1973 when Councilman Charles Cornforth steps down. Michael Myers will be a most worthy and necessary successor.

His legal and financial background is just what the Borough will need to face the difficult days ahead and particularly as the advisability of consolidation with the Township continues to be an important and complex question that must be faced. And when it is, it must be explained to all with financial and legal clarity so that the outcome will be based on understandable facts.

As candidates, John Dismukes and Michael Myers are proving their dedication to the people of our community through the very vigorous, person - to - person campaign they have been carrying forward. They are interested in serving you. They care.

You can truly have a direct impact on our community's future by voting for John Dismukes and Michael Myers as Princeton Borough Councilmen.

CLASSES ARE OFFERED

In Creative Movement. Classes in Creative Movement for children between the ages of four and seven will be offered for the first time in Princeton starting Thursday, October 5.

The program will be under the direction of Pat Cline, who for the past two years has been teaching Creative Movement for various organizations in the Princeton area.

During the classes, children will explore in a creative manner various dynamics of movement including energy, space, time and weight. They will be guided through improvisational exercises leading to body and spatial awareness, movement skills, coordination, balance and rhythm.

Modern dance techniques for the purpose of strengthening and toning will be introduced as well as story dramatizations and exercises in sensory awareness. Mrs. Cline describes Creative Movement as a unique and exciting method for helping children develop their own inherent movement capacilities.

Registration is now being accepted and will be limited to ten children per class. Classes will be held Thursday afternoons at the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. Four and five year olds will meet between 2:00 and 3:00 and six and seven year olds between 3:30 and 4:30.

Mrs. Cline has studied Creative Movement and the Effort-Shape theory of movement analysis at the New School for Social Research and at the Dance Notation Bureau in New York. She has attended workshops in modern dance at the Martha Graham School, Merce Cunningham Studio and has studied with Ze'eva Cohen at Princeton University.

Additional information concerning the children's classes may be obtained from Mrs. Cline at 921-9165.

McCandless Muses: Who's My Top Quarterback?

For the first time in his four years as Princeton's football coach, Jake McCandless has a wide open battle on his hands for the starting assignment at quarterback. The degree of competition involved could be a healthy thing for a team that needs every bit of drive it can muster to compensate for its inexperience.

When McCandless first took over for Dick Colman, senior Scott MacBean was the firm choice to become the first T quarterback after nearly a quarter century of single wing football at Pineeton. His quick adjustment to the task was the major factor in the Tigers' ability to gain a tie for the 1969 Ivy title with Harvard and Dartmouth.

A year later, Rod Plummer was the choice to succeed MacBean, and was at the helm again for the first three games last season until he was injured at Ithaca. Sophomore Jim Flynn then replaced him and steered the Tigers to the only four victories they managed in 1971.

JOB TO FILL: Jake McCandless is weighing the abilities of three quarterbacks as Tigers prepare for Rutgers opener on September 30.

Flynn still has the edge, but he is being pressed by classmate Fred Dalzell and sophomore Dave Mistretta. The latter had little chance to show his capabilities during the season last fall that saw the Class of 1974 manage to win just a single game of six, but he is considered to have distinct ability.

All in Action Saturday. All three players saw about equal action Saturday in the controlled scrimmage against Connecticut, and when the afternoon was over, there was still no clear-cut differential. It was Dalzell, who played very little last year behind Plummer and Flynn, who got the Tigers their only touchdown against Connecticut.

Both Mistretta and Dalzell proved accurate with the short pass, a department in which Princeton has been notably weak since MacBean graduated. The TD against the Huskies came on a fourth and six situation when Dalzell rifled a pass into the end zone and split end Bill Skinner broke in front of a Connecticut defender to grab the ball.

The visitors, with spring practice under their belts, had a shade the better of the going but it took a grevious Princeton defensive error to set up the lone touchdown they made. The Tigers had forced a punt but one of the deep safetymen essayed a running catch of a twisting line drive, Connecticut recovered the fumble on the Princeton 12 and went in from there.

The visitors also booted a 22-yard field goal, whereas Princeton's Jim Bartges missed one of 33-yards and another of 43, making the final score 10-7. The Tigers had the ball on the Connecticut three-yard line when time ran out, and might have gone in if they had their best players on the field, but that was not the point of the scrimmage.

A Few Bright Spots. For what joy it's worth, the Princeton showing against Connecticut was better than the job they did last year (when the Tigers had stronger personnel) against Rhode Island. Saturday's opposition was not, however, anything close to the calibre of the first three teams the Orange and Black will face this season.

Flynn's ball handling was skillful, particularly on plays involving deception, and off his game experience of a year ago, he appears the logical choice for the opener a week from Saturday. In the last analysis, the job will go to the quarterback who can do the best job as a passer, since the total inexperience of the running backs must be mitigated with a strong aerial game.

All three backs who are currently the ranking players at their positions are totally new to their assignments—a situation that has conceivably not existed here at any time since World War II. Larry Chollet, tailback, was a split end last fall and as a freshman in 1970, but he did have running back experience in high school.

Sophomore Bob Harding, the choice to replace Dough Blake at fullback, was a tight end a year ago. Senior Kevin English, the flanker, has played two seasons on defense. Even with an experienced line ahead of them (one of the few major assets Princeton has this season) any semblance of a consistent running game will be a major accomplishment.

Defensively, the Tigers will inevitably be vulnerable to the pass, a problem that will be accentuated because they will face established quarterbacks in their first three games. Columbia's Don Jackson, who will be in Palmer Stadium on October 7, is rated a true pro prospect who hopes to follow in the footsteps of such Lion artists as Marty Domres, Archie Roberts and Paul Governali.

In the deep seoondary, now that English has been switched to offense, only Barry Richardson and Gary Marshall are lettermen. The learning process may be slow and painful.

Joe Parsons' availability as a linebacker, after absence from college last spring, is a major plus for the rebuilding Princetonians. He stood out in his play diagnosis and tackling against Connecticut, and will be a great asset in the coming seasons.

Here's a football oddity . . . There are 5-yard penalties in football and there are 15-yard penalties—but, oddly enough, there are no 10-yard penalties . . . And, nobody has ever come up with a good reason why there aren't any 10-yard penalties in football.

PHS Football Season Full of Question Marks

(This is the last of three articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for 1972.)

One of the best high school football teams in Mercer County last year—Hamilton—will meet one of the worst—Princeton—when the Little Tigers open their new season Saturday afternoon at 2 at the Hamilton field.

Early indications are that the fortunes of both schools may have changed. Hamilton is not expected, at least in the early part of the season, to be as strong as it was last year when it tied for Mercer County honors. PHS on the other hand can only get better. Rent with dissention last fall, the Blue and White failed to win a single game.

Neither coach is prepared to make any predictions about the outcome. PHS, with completely new offensive and defensive formations and a sizeable number of inexperienced players, is still an unknown. Some quick generalizations off three scrimmages are that the offense is having problems, while the defense had shown well in spots. The passing had been good.

Bill McEvoy, the Hamilton coach, is attaching a great deal of importance to the game. He hasn't come right out and said in pre-season comments but he had implied that if his team gets by Princeton in the opener, it could win them all.

PHS Co-captain Dave Cowen will be one of the starting tackles in Princeton High School's football opener Saturday at Hamilton. He is one of 12 returning lettermen.

A Measuring stick. Both teams have had one common scrimmage opponent, Lawrenceville, which PHS scrimmaged Saturday. The Larries, who are expected to have a highly successful season this year under coach Ken Keuffel, are reported to have outplayed Hamilton, five touchdowns to one. Wood reported that PHS was not as strong as Lawrenceville but his squad had a better time against the Larries than did Hamilton.

"On paper, Hamilton is much stronger than that scrimmage indicates," he said. Despite the Lawrenceville scrimmage, Wood reported that he was "still apprehensive about Hamilton.

"I'm sure they are going to get a lot of their problems fixed up." They have so much material comming up from excellent feeder schools, Wood continued, that he felt it was unlikely that the Hornets would ever have field a poor team. "It will be a very difficult game," he said.

About the only thing one can venture about the contest is that it is unlikely that the score will be as decisive as last year's 37-0 romp by Hamilton. It should be much closer this time.

Starting Lineup. With the exception of three or four players Wood intends to platoon his personnel. Starting offensive lineup includes Jeff Lewis at center, Bob Weisbecker at fullback and Greg Kline at quarterback.

For the remaining positions, Wood has narrowed it down to three men: guards, Frank Boyer, Jeff Drummond, John Glanacael; tackles, Dave Cowen, Tom Mason, Guy Mendelson; ends, Dane Black, Howard Sweeney, Richard Warfield, and halfbacks, Craig Carlton, Tom Hofgesang and Bob Zinsmeister.

Black, Carlton, Warfield and possibly Zinsmeister will play both ways. Lost for the season with a broken wrist sustained ina n drill last week is junior Angelo Arcaro. "We had expected to use him on defense," said Wood.

Commenting on the Lawrenceville scrimmage, Wood reported that the squad looked pretty good defensively but was still having trouble offensively. Missed assignments and blocking were two areas rating poor marks.

PHS ran through 47 plays in all, passing on 27 of them for 200 yards plus. Twenty running plays netted only 70 yards.

"We'll pass as much as we run. One thing will help the other," said Wood. "Right now, the blocking is not up to par; if we ever get going on that I think we'll be all set."

Outlook? In previous years, TOWN TOPICS ran down the PHS schedule and made a prediction on how many games the Little Tigers would win. This season, because so much about the Little Tiger squad is new and untested — both formations and personnel — any predicton would be an exercise in futility.

No one expects PHS to go from an 0-8 record to 9-0. But there are hopes the team will win enough to be respectable. Perhaps defensive coach Jim Beachell said it best.

"We hope to break .500. If we win half our games, Dick Wood will be coach of the year."

The 1972 Schedule. The schedule is a good one — but tough. It contains newcomer St. Anthony's, a team that Wood has been trying, unsuccessfully, for the past six or seven years to play. Also included are Hun School, which should develop into a keen intra-community rivalry, and a third newcomer, Hillsborough.

Dropped have been Notre Dame and Cherry Hill East. In all there are nine contests, one more than last year when PHS was unable to fill an open date.

Following is a brief run down of the nine teams.

Hamilton, 7-2 in 1971, has been the opening opponent for PHS for the last half-dozen years. There is none tougher on the schedule.

Spearheaded by its two outstanding backs, Bob Harris and Shawn McRae, Hamilton won 21 of 26, tied one and captured two Mercer County titles and finished second the other year in the past three years. The one tie, incidentally, was a 17-17 affair engineered two years ago by a decidely underdog PHS eleven.

Although Harris and McRae are gone now, McEvoy welcomes back six offensive lettermen and five defensive starters. Moreover, McEvoy admits to having a surplus of talent and six preseason days at their trainng camp in Pennsylvania gives Hamilton that much more of an edge.

Ewing, 4-5 last fall, after several poor seasons in a row, appears to be in the process of coming back and hopes to continue under new coach Bruce Martz. Martz inherits a young team and a young coaching staff, and says the Blue Devils are a year away. His first assistant in charge of the defense, by the way, is Craig Wood, one of Dick Wood's sons.

Ewing has 10 returning lettermen — two less than Princeton. Until last year when Ewing won, 20-6, PHS seemed to have the hex on the Blue Devils. Hopefully, the Blue and White can get it back because a win early in the season is vital if the players are to gain confidence in themselves and their new formation. Another loss would be the 15th in a row — if the team fails to get by Hamilton.

Hope for an adequate pass defense rests, too, on the work the front four will do. All are lettermen—Captain Mike Kincaid and Steve Hausmann, the ends, and tackles Carl Barisich and Ken Beytin. Barisich was a standout as a sophomore, sat out the entire 1971 season following a knee operation after the Rhode Island scrimmage, and will do much for the defense if he regains his earlier form.

Saturday's scrimmage was marked by one unexpected developemin that bodes well for the future. McCandless had been greatly concerned over the punting, which had been handled almost entirely last year by Hank Bjorklund, spelled on occasion by Dick Lang. Both have graduated.

Sophomore Bruce Hennemuth handled the job against Connecticut with distinct ability, one of his efforts covering 49 yards and most getting fine height. If he continues to do well, one basic problem should be fully solved.

St. Anthony's, 3-6 last year under its popular coach Tony Nitti, and PHS will be meeting for the first time. "Nitti," says Wood, "does a good job with the players he has. He always manages to win a few big games every year."

With players like Mark Mirabelli, Mark Stillitano, Joe Falzone and the fleet Leon Lackey, the Iron Mikes look good on paper but if they have a winning season it will only be the second time in their history.

Hillsborough, 5-4 last year under coach Joe Paulino, has been playing the sport for just a few years. As a newcomer to the schedule, Hillsborough will be a question mark. "I don't know what to expect there," said Wood.

Bridgewater-Raritan West is one of the two schools PHS plays that are outside the confines of Mercer County. Perth Amboy is the other. Last year, the Golden Falcons had no trouble defeating PHS, 38-7.

"They are a powerful team, well drilled. They'll be strong again, predicted Wood.

Perth Amboy was the closest game for PHS last year (it lost 8-0) and Wood describes the upstate school as "more on our level" both in ability and in the number of students. Perth Amboy is coached by Bill Geddes.

Steinert, 7-2 last fall, is a lot like Hamilton as its record would indicate — with one exception. Hamilton is consistent. Steinert is erratic and has not been able to put together two good seasons in a row.

Like Hamilton, the Spartans benefit from an excellent feeder system from its junior high schools and attends a preseason camp in Pennsylvania. Off his record last year, Steinert coach Pete Brescia was named Mercer County's Coach of the Year. And despite the loss of All County quarterback Mickey Roman, Brescia feels that if everything falls into place, Steinert may have that second successful year in a row. A tough game for PHS.

Brescia and Wood both became head coach the same year. Both are starting their 11th seasons and are considered the deans of high school coaches in the county.

Hun, 3-5 last year, hopes to retain some of the glory it had when it was winning 33 in a row the previous three years. To overcome a "but-look-who-you-played stigma", Hun is attempting to move up by scheduling better teams.

This should be a natural. The only thing one can ask is why didn't it happen sooner. PHS is Hun's final game of the season.

Trenton slipped from a fine season the year before to 3-6 last year and the word from Frank Capraro, the Tornadoes' head coach, is that THS is in for a rebuilding year. However, the popular Caparo has been known to do wonders with the material he has at hand and this game is always hard fought no matter what the record of each club.

HUN VS. NEWARK

Football Opener Here Saturday. The Hun School football team will open its 1972 season at home Saturday when it entertains a strong Newark Academy team. Kickoff is 2 p.m.

"They're a big team and strong. It's going to be a difficult game," says Hun coach Dave Leete without a moment's hesitation.

Last year, Hun traveled to northern New Jersey to meet the same Newark team, carrying with it an unbeaten string through 33 games — the longest in the state. Hun came home on the short end of a 38-0 shellacking.

So the motive for revenge is strong but any thoughts of humiliating coach Bob Hendrickson's squad are nothing but tiny flights of fancy. Leete will settle for a victory no matter how slight the margin. "They are tough," he says realistically of Newark, which suffered far less through graduation than Hun. "We'll have to be really at our peak to beat them."

SIGHTS SET: Jim Beachell, PHS defensive coach, feels Little Tigers will be able to top .500 mark this fall.

Scrimmages against Wardlaw and Montclair proved that Hun is far from its peak. The word that keeps popping up in Leete's comments as he describes the progress of the team is "inexperience."

"We're fighting general inexperience, we still have a lot of rough spots to work out: trying to get the quarterback to execute, the backs to learn where to go."

The first scrimmage against Wardlaw, Leete reported, revealed a lot of Hun mistakes. And the more recent scrimmage against Montclair? "Mistakes again," he said, adding: "But I guess that's what scrimmages are for."

Starting Lineup: In the starting lineup for Saturday's game will be Al Cohen at center, Bill Mills and Scott Killary at guard, George Harper, tackle, and either Sammy Buck or Ed Dolton at the other tackle slot. At end will be John Marshall and Kevin Dwyer.

Quarterback is still a toss-up between Bob McHugh and John Videbeck. Both are struggling with inexperience, Leete said. John Haydu is expected to have recovered from a finger injury in time to start at fullback.

Greg Rafalski, one of three captains of the Red and Black along with Harper and Mills, will start at one of the halfback slots. John Loughlin or Ed Beagles will start at the other.

One of the few bright spots in the early going, according to Leete, has been the running of the veteran Rafalski. Hun will rely heavily on its ground game for most of its attack.

Physically, Hun will be ready for the opener. "We're all healthy; that's one good thing I can say," Leete reported. Whether Hun will have managed to iron out those mistakes and overcome its inexperience will be answered in short order on the field.

PDS PLANS COMEBACK

On Football Field. Ever since it began competition in football on the varsity level five years ago, Princeton Day School has rarely enjoyed much in the way of success.

The 1970 season, when the Panthers finished 5-2-1 and second to Hun in the Penn-Jersey League, marked their best effort, where overall they have failed to win even a third of the games played.

Last year saw the Blue and White go off the field victorious only once in seven games, against a somewhat easier schedule than in past years. A small team, both numerically and physically, plus loads of inexperience caused most of the problems.

It was a season that coach George Conway in his first year at PDS hopes he never has to endure again.

Perhaps, the last game victory over MacArthur Military Academy signalled a definite change for the better. Certainly as the Panthers prepare for their first game this Friday against Germantown Friends away, the prospects are brighter than a year ago.

Record Number Report. In previous years the squad never numbered more than 25 or so, making it difficult to hold an intra-squad scrimmage. This year, 35 candidates, the biggest turnout in history, reported to Conway September 1.

As opposed to last fall when PDS was not able to much more than hang on, Conway is referring to 1972 as "our first real building year." The players are "young, but with real enthusiasm and aggressiveness," Conway says.

The team has improved steadily in a pair of scrimmages, one against Greenbrook High School, the other this past Saturday against George School, but Conway is qquick to point out there is still a long way to go. Again, game experience, that valuable commodity, will be lacking.

Of the eight seniors who will see action this fall, only three have played football previously in their high school years. But that at least reflects the new spirit at the school, that five seniors with no experience decided to come out for the sport.

Transfers Will Help. Among the freshmen and sophomore candidates are four students new to the school. One of the most promising is freshman fullback Bill Martin, a 205-pounder who played junior high football at Cathedral in Trenton. Martin will play part time at defensive end as well.

The other freshman starter came up from last year's PDS Junior team. He's slot back Larry Fong, a 175-pounder who fills a corner back spot on defense.

Other new faces are receiver Frank Konstantynowicz from St. Hedwig's in Trenton, back-up quarterback Nick Brady, from St. Anthony's and back-up center Bob McKelvey, who'll also back up the line. McKelvey also comes from Cathedral.

Calling signals and handling the passing will be goalie Dave Wagenseil, a 175-pound senior. Wagenseil was back-up quarterback last year, and says Conway, "has developed real field sense to go with a great arm."

Tim Hamil, a 150-pound junior with two years of varsity football under his belt, will go at tailback on offense and will back up the line on defense.

Two-Way Players. Three seniors anchor the forward wall, two of them going both ways. Co-captains Dan Blum, 180 pounds, at right guard and Roger Williams, 205-pound right tackle, give solid experience on one side of the line. Blum moves to middle linebacker in Conway's four umbrella defense. Left tackle Don DeVries, 180 pounds, is the other senior on the offensive line.

A pair of sophomores fill out the left side of the line: 175-pound end Ralph Brown and 165-pound guard Doug Robinson. At center is Bill Brown, 175, who moves to end on defense, and at right end is junior John Boyd, 165, the best receiver on the team. Boyd moves to the secondary on defense.

The defense, which has lived up to Conway's "strong-point" billing in both pre-season scrimmages, adds weight and age to the interior line. Joining Williams are Mike Felder, 185-pound senior, Willy Langeweische, 165, and 190-pound sophomore Steve Packard. Senior Carl Sturken, 185, will share a defensive end slot with Martin.

Both back-up quarterbacks are freshmen, part of Conway's rebuilding year. Brady and Bill Baggitt, also up from the junior squad, are running neck and neck for the job. Glen Russo, a sophomore, fills in for Hamid at tailback.

Other offensive candidates are lanky senior receiver Richard Olcott, and another sophomore guard, Mike Young, who goes both ways in the center of the line.

"It's early, and we've been moving a lot of boys in and out in every position," says Conway, "but we'll be tough on defense and should improve all the time as the offense matures."

Hank Bjorklund Stays with N. Y. Jets

Hank Bjorklund, the running back who holds Princeton's all-time record for yards gained rushing (2362), survived four of the first five cuts made by the New York Jets and then landed on the taxi squad.

From more than 60 players who reported for pre-season training in July, the Jets reduced their personnel at stated intervals until just 44 remained, and Bjorklund was still "alive." Last week, as the sixth running back on a team that has a number of unusually capable ball carriers, he was waived. When none of the other 25 NFL teams claimed him, Coach Weeb Ewbank assigned him to the taxi squad—half a dozen players of good potential who constitute added reserve strength.

Under NFL rules, taxi squad members (so named because in years gone by, the owner of the Cleveland Browns paid them to work as drivers in the taxi fleet he operated) can attend all practices and travel with their teams. They do not, however, dress for game action unless they are activated an hour before the kickoff.

Bjorklund has indicated that he will spend the 1972 season in such status, hoping, of course, that he will at some point be made eligible. A 12th round choice of the Jets last winter, he was little used during the exhibition season, carrying the ball from scrimmage only seven times. He was also used on kickoff returns but was rejected as a punter because his time in release was considered excessive.

opening game in the Mercer County Flag Football League, dosing to the veteran Ewing Giants, 36-0.

On the other hand, Princeton's other entry in the league, Ivy Inn, blasted newcomer Mott Athletic Club, 28-0 to get off on the right foot.

HAC took the opening kickoff and had probably its best series of the day as it marched 70 yards before its drive was halted by an interception around the Giants' 20-yard line.

The Giants took the ball the other way for a score, added another before the period was over, and led by 24-0 at the half. Denny Riegle started his first game at quarterback for HAC.

Ivy, meanwhile, had little trouble with Mott, as Bruce Sandvik passed to Tony Boccanfuso for one score, to Steve Peters for another, and ran one in himself from 12 yards out. Peters scored the other on a run.

Jo-Jo's and Joe and Lena's tied 6-6 and Candlelight Lounge, made up mainly of old Monarch players, beat Three Seasons (last year's Hurry Back Inn) 10-0.

HAC will be hoping for an earlier time against Jo-Jo's when the two square off at 10:45 this Sunday at the field behind the Princeton Shopping Center. Ivy will journey to Lawrence for a game with the Giants, also starting at 10:45.

TWO STUDENTS TRIUMPH

In Sunfish Racing. Two Princeton University students, A.A. La Fountain and Chris Wilson, finished first and second in the Sunfish competition Sunday, in the second weekly series of races in the fall season on Lake Carnegie.

Two veteran members of the Carnegie Sailing Club, Ed Metcalf and Dick Holtzman, trailed closely in third and fourth place. A match race between Jim McPherson and Hector Poventud was held with McPherson winning all four.

The fall racing season will continue through late November. All sailors in the Princeton area interested in joining should call Commodore Richard Hill at 921-3309 for information.

ETS IS ONE UP

In BSL Championship Playoffs. McGraw-Hill, which never has any trouble during the regular season and preliminary playoff games, is again finding that championship a hard item to nail down.

Its old nemisis, ETS, dealt the Western Divison champions their first setback in 21 games last week, winning the first game of the championship playoffs between the two division champs, 7-5. The first game between the two ended in a 7-7 tie.

McGraw-Hill blew through the early rounds, whipping Shearer Trec, 18-14 and 22-7 and beating Cities Service, 21-11, and 11-8. ETS also had little trouble reaching the finals, defeating ERC two straight, 12-9, and 5-0, and walloping RCA A, 12-4 and 16-6.

The second game of the series was scheduled to be played this past Tuesday at RCA, and the third, if necessary will be Thursday.

PDS LOOKS TO REPEAT

As Soccer Champions. Fifteen members of Princeton Day School's state champion 1971 soccer team return to the Panther fold this year, and Coach Peter Buttenheim frankly looks to keep the Class B Prep crown another year.

The Blue and White open a 12 game season next Tuesday at Wardlaw School.

"The schedule is tougher," says Buttenheim, referring to the addition of traditional prep soccer power Moorestown Friends, "but we've lost so few key players and have so much returning experience we should repeat as champions."

In addition to the returning 15, three ex-jayvees will move up to varsity slots this year. More depth and strength is added by Jeff Schuss, who returns to an outside right position after a year in Colorado, Dunc Martin, who played inside-right at Deerfield, Feliciano Azevedo, Brazilian AFS student, and halfback John Bragg, who played right half at Walter Johnson High in Bethesda, Md.

After three weeks' practice and a pair of warm-up scrimmages against Lawrenceville School, Coach Buttenheim plans a starting line-up next week like this: up front he'll go with Schuss, Co-captain Art Levy and third-year men Dave Straut and Evan Bash.

At halfback, Buttenheim will open with Greg Bash, Cam Ferrante and Bragg. Fullbacks will be Mike Stix, Dave Barach and Gray Ferrante, while co-captain Buzz Woodworth will man the nets for the fourth year in a row.

Buttenheim and his new assistant coach, Tom DeVito, former All American goaltender on Trenton State College's 1964 and 1965 national champions, have enviable depth at every position. Across the front line they are looking to Chip Place, Gary Salup, Martin and Jamie Paterson for back-up strength. Half-back depth comes from Fran Treves, Azevedo and Alan Bogdonoff, the latter up from the jayvees.

Sophomore letterman Dave Beckwith will be flanked in the second fullback line by ex-jayvees John Mittnacht and Ted Brown. Peter Moore will spell Woodworth as goaltender.

TENNIS TO CONTINUE

At Belle Mead Club. Tournament play will continue this weekend at the Nassau Racquet and Tennis Club on Route 206, four miles north of Princeton.

Men's singles quarter-finals are set for 9:30 on Saturday, with the semi-finals at 1:30 and the finals Sunday at the same hour. Women's singles quarterfinals are scheduled for 11 Saturday, the semi-finals for 3 that afternoon and the finals at 11 Sunday.

Men's doubles will have their quarter-final round Saturday at 5, with the last two rounds the next day. All matches will be played, rain or shine, and spectators are welcome to attend without charge.

FINALS SATURDAY

In Springdale Golf. Alan Poole and Paul Schafer will face Alan Frank, Jr. and Robert Lewis in the finals of the Governors' Cup Tournament this weekend at Springdale Golf Club.

The latter pair will give away a total of 34 strokes as the teams compete over 18 holes of match play. Frank, with a 6 handicap, will reduce to scratch, while Lewis, who plays at 11, will have five. Schafer's handicap of 19 will give him 13 strokes on Frank, while Poole, whose handicap is 27, will have 21 for the match.

Last weekend, Frank and Lewis won, 6 and 5, over Asa Farr and Jack Futerer but had to go an extra hole in the semi-final round to elimnate John Hoff and Maurice Coffee. Poole and Schafer won 2 up from Hal Moran and Jack Sweeney and then turned back Karl Pettit, Jr. and Bryce Chase, 5 and 4.

Still to be played is the 36-hole final for the eclub championship. Moore Gates, Jr. and Maury Mather postponed their meeting after winning their way to the championship in June and so far have not been able to set a date for the match.

TWO TITLES DEFENDED

In West Windsor Tennis. Two doubles teams successfully defended their tennis championships in the annual West Windsor Recreation Department tennis tournaments.

Norm Nuding and Bernt Midland captured their third straight tournament as they won the mens pink division doubles title and completed their third straight year without a defeat by defeating Kevin Little and Larry Martz 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 in a closely fought finals match.

In advancing to the final, Nuding-Midland had defeated Al Smith and Pete Soutter 6-3, 6-2 and Harvey Coleman and Ken Syberg 6-3, 6-3. Smith and Soutter had earlier overcome Wight Martindale and Jim Payne 6-3, 6-4. Little and Martz had defeated Bob Evans and Bob Little 6-2, 6-3 and a 6-2, 6-3 conquest of Cliff Crawford and Julian Saltz. Evans and Little had beaten Bill Schneider and Tony Zuccarello 6-3, 6-4 in an earlier contest.

Kevin Little and Larry Martz successfully defended their boys doubles crown with a 6-0, 6-1 over the recently formed team of John Brakker and Mark McLean.

Bob Atwan and Nick Rzewsky, recent winners in the 6:45 mens league, won the mens doubles tan division championship after a grueling match with Bob Duncan and Frank Wendt 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Atwan and Rzewsky had advanced to the finals wth a 6-1, 6-2 win over Penns Neck's Jim Coffee and Lou Gantwerk. Duncan and Wendt had reached the finals after a 6-1, 6-2 win over Bob Hansen and Bob Shaff and a 6-2, 6-4 conquest of Jim Swartz and Joe Champion.

Sharon Midland and Bernt Midland captured the first annual father-daughter title wth an 8-6, 6-1 win over Katie and Jim Ruch and a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Kim and Bill Schneider. The Ruchs had earlier defeated the Schneiders 6-0, 6-2 in the round robin tournament.
